

Biography

Radoslava Stefanova

Radoslava Stefanova has been the Section Head for the Russia and Ukraine Relations Section at NATO's Political Affairs and Security Policy Division since September 2010. Prior to that, she was the Deputy Section Head of that same section, where she has worked since January 2004. Before she joined NATO, she taught international and Trans-Atlantic relations at the American University of Rome, which she joined after 8 months of field experience in Kosovo. In the preceding five years she was a research fellow at a Rome-based think tank of international affairs, Istituto Affari Internazionali (IAI), where she worked on Trans-Atlantic relations, Eastern Europe, the Balkans, nuclear non-proliferation and conflict management. Radoslava has published articles and book chapters on these topics, and co-edited two books. She holds graduate degrees in international affairs/strategic studies from the Johns Hopkins Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies and in conflict analysis from the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs of Carleton University, Canada. Her undergraduate degree in international affairs was granted by the American University of Paris, summa cum laude. Radoslava is a dual Bulgarian and Italian national. In December 2007 she was granted the title of Cavaliere dell'Ordine della Solidarieta' Italiana by the President of Italy.