

ELNIGAR ILTEBIR

NSC Biography

Dr. Elnigar Iltebir currently serves as the Director for China on the National Security Council at the White House. Prior to that, she has worked in the U.S. Government as a political and economic analyst. Dr. Iltebir earned her Ph.D. in International Security and Economic Policy at the University of Maryland, writing her dissertation on Turkish foreign policy. She also earned a Master's in Public Policy from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, where she wrote her master's thesis on China's policy toward the Uighurs, and she completed her undergraduate work in the International Relations at the George Washington University.