Local Activities Oahu is the third largest island in the Hawaiian chain and home to some of the most famous and photographed sites in Hawaii. Flanked by the world-famous Diamond Head and the East Coast Cliffs, topped by Waimea Bay on the renowned North Shore and intersected by the Koolau Mountain Range, home of the Pali Lookout and Tantalus Drive. Almost three-fourths of the state's population reside on Oahu. Honolulu is the capitol and the eleventh largest metropolitan city in the United States. Few cities offer such a wide variety of cultural and historical sites such as Pearl Harbor, the Polynesian Cultural Center or the Mission House Museum. And no other American city boasts a royal palace or a gilded bronze statue dedicated to their famous monarch, King Kamehameha.

Climate Differences in temperature and rainfall are dependent on elevation across the island. The higher you are, the cooler and wetter it gets. When rain showers occur, they are usually brief and light. The months with the least amount of rainfall on Oahu are May through October, with June and July being the driest. Oahu's North Shore is famous for its tremendous waves in the winter months. The biggest waves usually occur between November and March. 8.

The recorded temperature in the state has ranged from 12 degrees F (-11.1 degrees C) near the summit of Mauna Kea in 1979 to 100 degrees F (37.8 degrees C) at Pahala on the Big Island of Hawaii in 1931. __Rainfall__Unlike the temperature, Hawaii's rainfall varies tremendously according to location. 	COMMON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT - INSTRUCTOR COURSE Army
	Northern Warfare Training Center-Ft. Greely Fort Wainwright, AK 99703
	Course Description: Effective 2017-12-19 Course Scope: The Instructor Course, one of two courses that comprise the Common Faculty Development Program, is a ten-day/80 hour course designed for new faculty (e.g. instructors, trainers, and facilitators). It is a competency-based course: the learning objectives are based on internationally recognized instructor competencies published by the International Board of Standards for Training, Performance, and Instruction (ibstpi). The course prepares new faculty to teach, train, and facilitate learning in an adult learning environment. It introduces new faculty to Army instructor roles and responsibilities, teaching and learning models, and professional and ethical requirements. The course also introduces classroom management techniques, the process for building learning objectives and lesson plans, and characteristics of effective communication. Throughout the course, new faculty will have an opportunity to practice teaching, working from short, simple practicum exercises to increasingly longer and more complex ones, culminating in an end of course lesson presentation. The first half of the course focuses on characteristics of effective instructors, self-awareness-of differences in teaching and learning style preferences-and fundamentals of teaching and learning as they apply to adults. The second week focuses more on application of those fundamentals in various teaching and learning practicums, with both instructor, peer, and self-assessment in a collaborative learning environment. The summative assessment will occur at the end of the course and consist of an individual 30- to 50-minute practicum.
	Special Information: This course is included in the CP-32 Certificate Training Program that is accredited by the American National Standard Institute (ANSI).

Medical Dental Care

Medical. Prior to arrival, please inform the IMSO of any and all medical issues associated with the IMS and or dependents via a separate e-mail. Another example would be to ensure there is adequate OB GYN physicians available for dependents. Ensure you have IMSO approval prior to adding dependents to the ITO.

The medical treatment facility on Fort Lee is the Kenner Army Health Clinic. Refer to the ITO to determine where the IMS and dependents will receive medical care. It is a requirement for dependents to have medical insurance before they depart from country. In most cases, students are responsible for dependents' medical care.

Bull Dental Clinic is available for emergency dental care only to the International Military Students not their dependents.

Valuables should be removed from parked vehicles and vehicles should be locked at all times. ALU is not responsible for valuables left in vehicles.

Drugs and Alcohol

Illegal use of drugs narcotics is strictly forbidden. Security Forces on base will conduct a search of your vehicle or room if they suspect the possession of illegal drugs. Driving While Intoxicated (DWI) is a very serious offense that carries serious punishment that could include up to two years in prison, a 10,000 fine and termination of training and return to homeland. In the US you must be 21 years old to buy and consume alcoholic beverages. ALWAYS designate a non-drinking driver to go with you, or call a taxi, your senior student, or a friend if you

1 Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO.

Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive.

Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b , they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable . IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S. Common Access Card CAC . Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

14 IMSO cell phone number is 334 714-1896 for non-life threatening emergencies only .

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE s control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm , and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes .

17 Rental cars are recommended for Advanced Aircraft Courses AQC, IPC, MTP , FSXXI IERW Track Courses, Aviation Maintenance Officer Course, Basic Officer Leadership Course, and Aviation Captain s Career Course. Fort Rucker does not provide transportation to these courses flight line or academics . All students attending Spanish Courses are provided transportation to and from the Flight Line. Students attending FSXXI IERW are required to ride the bus due to limited parking space at the Flight Line. However, they do require transportation to and from the pickup and drop off points for safety reasons. The pickup schedule for morning flight line training is around 0430. Drop off schedule for evening flight line training is after 0100.

18 If IMS arrive after hours or on the weekend, they need to check into the hotel. Emergency contact number is 334-714-1896 IMSO cell phone . They will need to report to IMSO at 0800 on the first working day after their arrival. They will need to bring the following items with them when they report

It will equip students with the ability to make a rapid assessment on whether narcotics activity is taking place. This rapid assessment can be enhanced by becoming familiar with current criminal trends and understanding how to use this information to confirm or deny one's suspicion. The skills learned during this module are taught, not only through the classroom, but through hands-on training and searching of commercial motor vehicles. Students are taught how to locate narcotics in hidden compartments and electronic traps on these vehicles, as well as learning the vehicle's natural voids.

Module 4 (5 days)

This module focuses on the categories of: physical surveillance, surveillance terminology, equipment, and skills. It addresses: conducting surveillance on drug traffickers, circumventing counter-surveillance, identifying terrorist counter-surveillance, tactical operation plans, investigative reports, and preparing for surveillance and operation scratch reports. Course Description:

Effective 2017-11-07

Course Scope:

This course challenges students to learn, understand, apply, and analyze Army IO doctrine and TTPs across the spectrum of conflict. The University of Foreign Military and Cultural Studies brings a unique, tailored approach to providing an education focused on decision support. The core of our curriculum is based on self-awareness, groupthink mitigation, critical thinking, and cultural apperception. Our premise us that people and organizations court failure in predictable ways, that they do so by degrees almost imperceptibly and that they do so according to their mindset, biases, and experience, which are formed in large part by culture and context. Our education involves more than Socratic discussion and brainstorming. We belief that good decision process are essential to good outcomes. To that end, our curriculum is rich in divergent process, Red Team tools, and liberating structures, all aimed at decision support. We borrow techniques, methods, frameworks, and best practices from several sources and disciplines to create an education and practical application method that we find to be the best safeguard against individual and organizational tendencies toward biases, errors in cognition, and groupthink. Our approach has proven effective in units and organizations from brigades to the Joint Staff.

Courseware is presented at a graduate level of study and students should plan for four hours of classroom discussion and experiential learning and four hours of homework to include reading and journaling.

Lesson topics for the six-week course include temperament and group dynamics, negotiations, perception and interpretation, cognitive biases and groupthink, mental models and framing, complexity and systems thinking, religion s role in culture, politics and economics, eastern versus western thought, country studies, and an operational exercise designed to apply the tools and concepts presented during the course.

A variety of offsite visits to the Kansas City area, along with subject matter expert participation, is scheduled to enhance and enrich the curriculum.

The University of Foreign Military and Cultural Studies brings a unique, tailored approach to providing an education focused on decision support. The core of our curriculum is based on self-awareness, groupthink mitigation, critical thinking, and cultural apperception. Our premise is that people and organizations court failure in predictable ways, that they do so by degrees almost imperceptibly and that they do so according to their mindset, biases, and experience, which are formed in large part by culture and context. Our education involves more than Socratic discussion and brainstorming. We believe that good decision processes are essential to good outcomes. To that end, our curriculum is rich in divergent process, Red Team tools, and liberating structures, all aimed at decision support. We borrow techniques, methods, frameworks, and best practices from several sources and disciplines to create an education and practical application method that we find to be the best safeguard against individual and organizational tendencies toward biases, errors in cognition, and groupthink. Our approach has proven effective in units and organizations from brigades to the Joint Staff.

Courseware is presented at a graduate level of study and students should plan for four hours of classroom discussion and experiential learning and four hours of homework to include reading and journaling.

Lesson topics for the nine-week course include temperament and group dynamics, negotiations, perception and interpretation, argument deconstruction, cognitive biases and groupthink, mental models and framing, complexity and systems thinking, religion's role in culture, politics and economics, eastern versus western thought, country studies, common trends in the operational environment, and an operational exercise designed to apply the tools and concepts presented during the course.

A variety of offsite visits to the Kansas City area, along with subject matter expert participation, is scheduled to enhance and enrich the curriculum.

Must be a USAWC graduate within 15 years.

IFCEP is organized to provide updated material, instruction, and a means to dialog on contemporary issues including emerging leadership skills, changing national policies, updated military doctrine, and areas of regional concern. IFCEP focuses on the USAWC International Fellow Alumni network in order to strengthen established alumni bonds initially developed at Carlisle Barracks; launches new relationships using participation attendance at the US Army War College as a catalyst; and enhances stability by building relationships and promoting open dialog. The program introduces topics and issues for alumni to study from their home or workplace during an initial four-week phase. During this phase, participants develop a foundational background on select topics via online learning utilizing Blackboard as a learning management system. Along with readings, presentations and virtual meetings, alumni are expect to analyze and provide thoughts each week about the focus for the week. The course shares each participant's thoughts amongst the group and allows constructive dialog from differing perspectives on each week's topic. The group then travels to a regional location during the second phase to continue the discussion started previously. Seminars of 12 alumni expand on each of the four topics in weeklong symposium where each issue is the focus for a day of discussion and dialog. Participants depart with an understanding of the current environment, possible futures desired by regional players, and the tensions, challenges, and/or opportunities that may exist.

Course Prerequisite Text:

1. Candidates Alumnus should have graduated at least two years prior to the execution of the IFCEP course execution and are still serving on active duty.
2. Candidates should have access to a reliable Internet connection as all Phase I course work will be delivered on-line.
3. Phase II will be the Resident Phase of the course and will be held in the area of operations that the particular COHORT is located from. This information will be published when invitation are made.
4. Candidates should expect to devote an average of 10 hours a week towards the assigned readings and on-line written work discussion boards . This includes one forum initial posts of about 250 words and at least one feedback to a seminar mate of at least 150 words during each of the four weeks of distance education.
5. Course quota is limited to two sections of twelve for a total of 24 seats per IFCEP course.
6. Once the SCO receives the name of the nominated IMS for the IFCEP, please forward the name and IMS s working email address to the IF Program Administrative Officer, Mr. Emilio Montañez emilio.montanezrivera.civ@mail.mil . Mr. Montañez will coordinate with the Department of Distance Education and the US Army War College Registrar for enrollment into the course as well as begin the process to set up the IMS Blackboard Account.
7. SCO will need to work closely with SATFA CPM to ensure the costs for Phase II Resident portion are captured and loaded into the SCTMS.
8. The four week on-line portion would include the following topics delivered
 WEEK 1 - Understanding new leadership concepts, doctrine, and techniques available to strategic leaders.
 WEEK 2 - Understanding the implications of new U.S. Policies on regional relationships.
 WEEK 3 - Understanding the implications of new U.S. Doctrine on regional relationships.
 WEEK 4 - Understanding how regional issues could create tensions or opportunities in the region.
9. The Resident Week will reexamine each topic presented during the on-line portion. It will allow alumni face-to-face discussion in a small group symposium that will typically be based on an eight 8 hour symposium class room time . At the end of the Resident Week, IMS will depart with an understanding of the current environment, possible futures desired by regional players, the tensions, challenges, and or opportunities that may exist. Each of the four days of the symposium will link back to the studies presented during the on-line portion. Each seminar group will bring together alumni from diverse countries in the region to share differing standpoints and goals. The dialog exposes the alumni to concerns and viewpoints to help form the group s better understanding of the region and its operating environment.

Arrivals The IMSO will pick up all IMS arriving to the Richmond International Airport except those arriving on a US Holiday and those who get rental cars from the airport. There are several taxis at the airport, but it is recommended that you use the James River taxi service as they are the most cost effective. All IMS arriving at midnight or later or on a US Holiday, will take a taxi from the airport to the IHG Army Hotel. The cost of the fair should be approximately 36.00 if you use James River Taxi. Request a receipt from the driver. Upon arrival to the IHG Army Hotel front desk, they will have a welcome bag for you.

Departures

Every IMS will complete an out processing sheet. The out processing sheet will be placed in your IMSO mailbox. The out processing sheet, your ID card and all dependent ID cards must be turned in to the IMSO on graduation day. Transportation to the airport is at the student s expense. Students who receive TLA from this training location will receive your taxi allowance in your last pay. Upon settling your voucher in country, you will need to have a copy of the taxi receipt as proof of payment, if not you will owe.

Medical Dental Care

Medical. Prior to arrival, please inform the IMSO of any and all medical issues associated with the IMS and or dependents via a separate e-mail. An example would be if an IMS requires a very specific expensive and not readily available prescription medicine. Another example would be to ensure there is adequate OB GYN physicians available for dependents. Ensure you have IMSO approval prior to adding dependents to the ITO.

The medical treatment facility on Fort Lee is the Kenner Army Health Clinic. Refer to the ITO to determine where the IMS and dependents will receive medical care. It is a requirement for dependents to have medical insurance before they depart from country. In most cases, students are responsible for dependents' medical care.

Bull Dental Clinic is available for emergency dental care only to the International Military Students not their dependents.

	JOINT INTERAGENCY PLANNING CONSIDERATIONS Army
	Course Description:            Course Description: The Joint Interagency Planning Considerations (JIPC) is a two and a half-day, 18-hour, seminar for Colombian military and civilian personnel. The course examines the planning skills necessary to more fully enable planners who engage with a combatant commander in answering the challenges of coherent interagency coordination when planning complex contingency operations and military support to Stability Operations. The course initially frames the strategic environment that faces this nation and our allies as we transform organizations and processes to more effectively answer the challenges of current defense planning scenarios. The seminar will examine the Ends, Ways and Means of present strategy by requiring participants to articulate national policy themes in answering a deteriorating and destabilizing situation taking place with an international partner. In addition to gaining an appreciation of the dynamics of strategic guidance, the seminar will examine the transforming processes in development that are designed to bring more coherence to our planning efforts. The foregoing lays the foundation for participants to interact in a final planning simulation. JIPC is conducted in a dynamic seminar environment, using informal lectures, guided discussions, as well as case studies to examine the adaptive planning processes as they pertain to interagency coordination and complex contingency operations. This provides a common framework and a shared understanding on how best to implement the various instruments of power in answering strategic challenges. The capstone of the course is an exercise which enables participants the opportunity to work within a model which simulates a Joint Planning Group (JPG), Joint Inter-Agency Coordination Group (JIACG), or an Integrated Planning Cell (IPC) as it advises the unified commander. Course Prerequisite Text:            Family members/dependents NOT permitted. Course International Notes:            None available.

Army

MILITARY POLICE SCHOOL
Fort Leonard Wood, MO 65473

Course Description:

Effective 2017-03-28

Course Scope:

The Military Police Captain's Career Course provides focused and relevant training that is challenging, relevant, doctrinally sound and regulation compliant to the mid-grade level leaders preparing to serve as company commanders and staff officers. This course includes the new TRADOC mandated common core curriculum which is 320 hours of material deemed common for all captains in the US Army. This curriculum is presented as Outcomes Based Training and Education delivered using the Experiential Learning Model and blended through the course. The branch technical portion teaches the technical and tactical aspects of the three MP disciplines through lecture, discussion, written and oral requirements, practical exercises, and Tactical Exercises Without Troops (TEWTs). The lesson plans reflect; the continuing emphasis on the changes and challenges presented in the Operational Environment (OE), the requirements and benchmarks set forth in the Army Learning Model and specified requirement from Commandant USAMPS to ensure that the course is challenging, rigorous and emphasizes how to think, not what to think. Officers will apply critical and creative thinking and decision making skills in time and resource constrained settings equipping them to serve in a Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental, and Multinational environment.

Special Information:

This course includes 320 academic hours of common core curriculum. The lessons contained in the common core curriculum are taught using the Outcome Based Training and Education method of delivery under the Experiential Learning Model. These lesson plans are authored by subject matter experts throughout the Army under the centralized leadership of the Combined Arms Center (CAC) and Center for Army Leadership (CAL). In accordance with Operations Order 09-05 IA , Captains' Career Course (CCC) Educational Model Redesign, and FRAGO I, 2 and HQ, TRADOC OPORD 11-008, Army Learning Concept 2015 Implementation Plan, 25 Mar 11. The High Physical Demands Testing (HPDT) requirements for AOC 31A were met in the 7-19-C20B Military Police Basic Officer Leader-Branch course. International Military Students (IMS) must meet the English Comprehension Level (ECL) requirements to attend this course. REMARKS: Within Level II of the Officer Foundations Standards System, DoD Reorganization Act, 1986, the MPCCC course is a part of the Officer Education System. The elimination of this course would degrade the mission capabilities of the Military Police Corps to support the good order and discipline of the Army, its mission, and the nation's effort to fight the Global War On Terrorism.

ADVANCED MILITARY STUDIES

Army

COMMAND & GENERAL STAFF COLLEGE

FORT LEAVENWORTH, KS 66027-1352

Course Description:

The Advanced Military Studies Program (AMSP) and it is considered the second year of a three year mid-career educational experience. The AMSP course is for field grade officers, generally at the rank of Major, who have completed their Intermediate Level Education requirement, with the majority coming to AMSP from the Command and General Staff College (CGSC). All are volunteers who compete for selection during a rigorous screening process. Each year, AMSP educates 144 of these student officers and interagency partners at the graduate level to become agile and adaptive leaders who are critical and creative thinkers and can produce viable options to solve operational problems. Upon graduation, these leaders will usually serve a tour in critical positions in Division, Corps, Army Service Component Commands, or combatant command headquarters, thus completing an apprenticeship that makes up the third year of their education in operational art. The expectations for AMSP graduates are that they:

- . Lead teams in support of military operations and are good teammates; Are effective planners who apply operational art and science;
- . Demonstrate critical and creative thinking in developing solutions to contemporary operational problems using Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental, and Multinational (JIIM) approaches;
- . Understand the complexities of past and future operational environments;
- . Communicate effectively verbally, graphically, and in writing.

The AMSP curriculum consists of seven courses.

Theory of Operational Art, where students explore the relevance of military theory for planning and conducting operations in a complex contingency. The course begins with several foundational lessons on theory and method, leading to an analysis of theory's role in the development of operational art and its application in joint doctrine and military decision-making. It then examines examining military theory through the lens of its cultural and intellectual context, enabling a greater appreciation of the influences on and meaning of theory in the context of its own time and place, which in turn enables a better-informed critical evaluation of the applicability of theory in a context that differs from that of its origins. Finally, the course introduces systems theory, an explicit element of joint doctrine, and devotes several lessons to various frameworks, models, and theories that enable application of theory to assess complex contingencies.

The Evolution of Operational Art, where students evaluate the evolution of campaigning, operational art, and operational science since the mid-eighteenth century. The course focuses both operational art and operational science, helping students develop a clear understanding of the elements of this aspect of conflict, and how it has developed over time, and how that influences the status of both operational art and the operational level of war at the beginning of the twenty-first century. The course evaluates the nature of these campaigns, delving into the mind of commanders and staffs and see how they designed and executed their campaigns in order to discover what can be learned from their experiences. The course reinforces student understanding of current doctrine by using that doctrine as a framework for evaluating the past.

The Strategic Context of Operational Art, where students evaluate the strategic context for operational art. SCOA provides students with a deeper understanding of the ways in which the United States exists in the international arena, how the United States can make use of the various aspects of national power in its interactions with the rest of the world, and how American foreign policy and strategy developed over time. The course's focus on the strategic context for operational art complements the attention paid to the use of force throughout professional military education in general. The course reviews theoretical frameworks, empirical studies from the academic literature, historical and current examples of the application of American national power, and relevant United States Army and Joint Doctrine in order to better understand the broader environment in which decisions to use force are made. Throughout, instructors place a premium on the relative roles played by diplomacy, information, military force, and economics.

Design and Operational Art, where students learn new methods and tools for evaluating complex situations. The course teaches the application of conceptual planning in environments that pose complex military and socio-political problems by providing students reasoning and critical thinking methods that produce effective and adaptable operational concepts and plans. The 18-lesson academic phase uses an integrated approach, linking history, theory, doctrine, and practice within lessons and across the program. Students read, discuss, and apply conceptual planning principles to historical and contemporary situations. The lessons are cumulative, building student understanding of the Army Design. Methodology through repetition. Course readings emphasize the practice of operational art and the connection between conceptual and detailed planning. Application includes practical exercises during class and a visit to private-sector firms that use design methods in their business. The second phase, a two-week exercise, allows students to study an operational problem and to apply the full design methodology, developing an operational approach suited to their understanding of the situation.

Future Operational Art, where students synthesize elements of future operational art. Since no one commands a monopoly of knowledge on what the future holds, this course exposes students to a wide range of thought on future warfare, thus teaching him or her how to think about the future instead of what the future holds instead of attempting to prepare students for a specific future. Student groups use readings and class discussion to generate a future military scenario, identify relevant enemy actions, and produce an information paper that outlines the concept of friendly operations. The course helps students develop skills to identify trends in conflict and change relevant to future operational art, analyze the strategic, operational, and tactical implications of future warfare, analyze American and non-American perspectives on major combat in future warfare, and analyze genetics, robotics, information, nanotechnologies, and the space domain in future warfare.

Applied Integrated Planning (Exercises) where students achieve program outcomes through practical application of joint and Army decision-making processes. Under the direction of Seminar Leaders acting as Joint Force or Army operational unit commanders, students are asked to critically evaluate and synthesize the sum total of the theory, history, and doctrine taught in the course to develop viable solutions to operational and strategic problems that demonstrate a mastery of operational art. In each of the seven AMSP exercises, doctrinal instruction, seminar leader-facilitated discussion on practical application, and the student's ability to draw from a broad range of theoretical constructs and historical examples help to further student skills in adaptive problem solving through critical and creative thinking, effective communication, and adaptive leadership.

Research Colloquium. Two of the skills essential to the future success are SAMS graduates are their ability to apply critical and creative thinking skills in order to solve complex problems, and then to effectively communicate the results of that thinking to others. The Research Colloquium directly relates to achieving these goals and provides AMSP students with an elective course in their individual areas of interest. In this structured program, students conceptualize and develop an idea, conduct individual research to refine and explain the idea through the interpretation and evaluation of evidence, and ultimately, publish their results. Students must critically evaluate sources, ideas, current doctrine, and the work of their peers. The resulting monograph becomes an element in the body of scholarship used by other military officers and students of military art. The individual colloquia provide a foundation in the literature, schools of thought, and research methodologies of relevant academic disciplines and subject fields, guide the pace of the writing through set deadlines, and serve as a monograph syndicate to allow the students will share and discuss their projects.

Arrivals

Arrivals The IMSO will pick up all IMS arriving to the Richmond International Airport except those arriving on a US Holiday and those who get rental cars from the airport. There are several taxis at the airport, but it is recommended that you use the James River taxi service as they are the most cost effective. All IMS arriving at midnight or later or on a US Holiday, will take a taxi from the airport to the IHG Army Hotel. The cost of the fair should be approximately $36.00 if you use James River Taxi. Request a receipt from the driver. Upon arrival to the IHG Army Hotel front desk, they will have a welcome bag for you.

The fellowships provide an opportunity to study and conduct research at CISA in the area of combating terrorism.

In the Prep Course, Fellows participate in a comprehensive four week summer orientation to facilitate their transition to living in Washington, D.C. and to prepare for the academic year. A special course, Introduction to Academic Writing, is conducted during this time to assist the officers in preparation for the intense writing requirements of the degree. Time is also devoted to help them with various administrative needs. The orientation program consists of various briefings, academic coursework, computer training, cultural activities and local area orientation in preparation for the academic year.

Course Prerequisite Text:

IMS who will be receiving Travel and Living Allowance from the USG are placed in fully furnished apartments approximately 5-7 miles away from National Defense University. This is a safe, and convenient area along the Metro line. Lodging costs are paid directly to the housing provider. TLA recipients will receive 75 day for meals and incidentals.

TLA recipients will also be picked up at the airport by the corporate housing company and shuttled to the billeting location. The pick-up will be arranged by ISMO, so it is important that the IMS notify ISMO of any changes in their flight itinerary, including cancelled or missed flights.

FMS officers that are enrolled in a year-long course should arrive at least two weeks in advance of the report date in order to find housing and get settled prior to reporting for the course. FMS officers are responsible for arranging their own lodging accommodations. Most embassies maintain contacts with local real estate agencies and can assist in making arrangements for leasing either furnished or unfurnished housing. Due to congested traffic in the DC area, FMS officers are encourage to live in the Northern Virginia area if commuting by car.

FMS officers are typically picked up from the airport by local embassy staff. FMS officers must notify ISMO if they will not be picked up by their embassy, and need an ISMO facilitated airport pick-up.

Dependents are authorized and encouraged, at no cost to the USG. Authorized dependents must follow DSCA requirements for medical screening and medical insurance in order to be placed on the ITO. ISMO will NOT facilitate military ID cards for any dependent who is not authorized on the ITO. Dependents over the age of 18 must have a secondary form of ID that uses Latin Characters in order to get a military ID card issued. IMS with school aged dependents should bring the following in order to enroll the dependent in school

1. Original birth certificate
2. Immunization records
3. Transcripts. Please bring complete school records for your children.

IMS should bring civilian business attire, Class B uniform, and Class A uniform. IMS do not need to bring their Battle Dress Uniform. During initial inprocessing, daily dress is Class B uniform, eventually transitioning to appropriate civilian attire- coat and tie for men suit, dress, or professional attire for females. Civilian business clothes are approved attire for NDU students on a daily basis during the academic year. Class A equivalent are required when attending official functions, participating directly in VIP visits, attending guest lectures by three star and above equivalent, or as otherwise required.

IMS attending this course will be provided with a laptop to use during the course of the year and take home with them after graduation.

IMS must apply to be accepted in the Master s Degree Program instead of the Certificate Program. IMS should bring hard copies of official transcripts and diplomas, and will be required to take the TOEFL unless specifically exempted by DSCA Memo 16-55.

Course International Notes:

Course must be taken prior to MASL B171798. Selected personnel of the program are expected to meet the minimum prerequisites of U.S. students attending CISA. Specifically, those selected must satisfy the following prerequisites: iMust have the rank of mid-senior level military or civilian official (rank level of 0-5/0-6 and 15 years+ experience) iMust have experience or a current combating terrorism practitioner OR designated position in a combating terrorism organization upon completion of the program iMust achieve an ECL of 90. DLI for candidates with less than an ECL of 82 are not advisable due to the difficult level of academic work. It will be impossible for the IMS to achieve the working use of English (regardless of making a target ECL) to perform to program standards. This is a thesis producing course that requires a very high level English skills. Defense Language Institute PME courses (including the DLI Marshall course) and TOEFL prep courses are additional courses an IMS may attend to improve his or her English language skills prior to the NDU start date. These courses are NOT required. iMust have a university or military academy degree equivalent to BA/BS degree (4 years of post-secondary education); as this is a Master's degree granting program. Officers without substantiating records (and TOEFL score) will not receive a Master's degree.

The College of International Security Affairs educates and prepares civilian and military national security professionals and future leaders from the United States and partner nations for the strategic challenges of the contemporary security environment. CISA is the Department of Defense flagship for education and the building of partner capacity in combatting terrorism and irregular warfare at the strategic level. CISA prepares students for high-level policy and command and staff responsibilities through a graduate, multi-national, interagency, and Joint Professional Military Education Program.

The ten-month Master of Arts in Strategic Security Studies is comprised of three phases. Phase I, crafted based on the vision of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is an NDU-wide "Foundations of Strategic Leadership." This course introduces CISA's diverse student body to various critical and strategic thinking tools to analyze topics such as national-level strategy, joint doctrine and operations in order to anticipate and manage complexity, uncertainty, change, and surprise in the contemporary security environment. Phase II blends innovative principles of security studies and research methodology with an Area of Concentration: such as International Security Studies, Irregular Warfare, Counterterrorism, Homeland Defense, or South and Central Asia. Phase III gives students the opportunity to explore their functional or regional subject of interest by selecting elective courses, taking part in a capstone exercise, and researching and writing of a thesis. Eligible students who successfully complete the 10-month full-time program will receive a Master of Arts in Strategic Security Studies.

Through seminar participation and independent study and research, students will develop strategies for working with other agencies, with the United States, and with other partner nations. Through the combination of theoretical and practical learning, the program prepares professionals to develop and implement national and international security strategies for use in conditions of peace, crisis, and war.

Course Scope:

The USAWC resident program prepares students to assume strategic leadership responsibilities. Upon completion, graduates begin operating in the national strategic or theater strategic environment- either directly or as advisers to the senior leadership of the Armed Forces, the Department of Defense, other governmental agencies, or in foreign militaries. The USAWC is responsible for producing graduates who understand how to operate in strategic security environments, who can deal effectively with complex, unstructured problems involving national security, and who are prepared to make sound decisions or render sound advice when the application of military force is being considered as a policy option. The central academic focus is on strategic leadership and national security. Graduates are expected to understand the linkages between strategy and the other elements of power at the national level and the planning and conduct of warfare at the theater level. To this end, the USAWC:

- Challenges students to study the dynamics of the global strategic environment and introduces them to the critical thinking tools needed by strategic leaders. How to think will remain far more important than what to think as students understand the systems and processes used to manage change in the international strategic environment;
- Helps students understand the key tenets of national security strategy and how the elements of national power available to the President and Secretary of Defense - diplomatic, informational, military, and economic - may be used to promote and protect U.S. national interests. Students must also understand how to effectively wield the instruments of national security policy;
- Reinforces that defense strategy is derived from, and supports, national level strategic guidance. Students must grasp the processes by which the defense strategy establishes strategic direction and provides guidance for joint operations planning; and
- Continues to focus on theater-level, unified action, joint and single service, functional component commands, and multinational war fighting across the full spectrum of military operations. The critical link between the strategic and operational levels of war must be understood

The academic year consists of approximately 190 academic days. Six core courses, the Strategic Decision Making Exercise (SDME), the SRP, and the National Security Seminar (NSS) together constitute the "core" curriculum. All students participate in the carefully sequenced and functionally related courses in the core curriculum, each of which builds on and integrates material from earlier work. Following completion of SDME, students take 5 electives (one of which is a Regional Studies elective), requiring a total of 37 credit hours for the program.

Special Information:

The USAWC is accredited by the Commission on Higher Education of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools to confer the Master of Strategic Studies Degree (MSS) upon program completion. The Commission on Higher Education is an institutional accrediting agency recognized by the U.S. Secretary of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation. Enrollment in the USAWC MSS degree program requires the possession of a baccalaureate degree or equivalent from a regionally accredited institution. All students must request that their undergraduate transcript be mailed directly from their undergraduate institution to the USAWC Registrar's Office.

Service Obligation

Active Component Army officers incur a 2-year active duty service obligation (AR 135-91 and AR 350-100).

USAR and ARNG commissioned officers incur a 2-year service obligation (AR 350-1) not to exceed their mandatory retirement date (MRD). Reserve officers (not on extended active duty) attending service schools incur a Ready Reserve obligation of at least 2 years following course completion (AR 135-91).

DACs must agree to serve in the government for 30 months after completing the 10-month REP. DACs enrolled in DEP incur an obligation of 24 months.

Students from sister services or other government organizations are committed to the service obligations dictated by their respective components.

The following statement must be included in Paragraph 15 of the Invitational Travel Order ITO for all IMS attending this course

"The Government of the United States is responsible for IMS travel during this course and is part of the education and training program. Cost are part of the course tuition. The IMS is a U.S. Army War College International Fellow and will visit the following locations HQ US Central Command and HQ US Special Operations Command, MacDill AFB, Tampa, Florida HQ US Southern Command, Miami, FL HQ Air Combat Command and HQ USA TRADOC, Joint Base Langley-Eustis, VA HQ US Fleet Forces Command and NATO ATC, Norfolk Naval Station, Norfolk, VA HQ Department of the Army, The Pentagon, Washington, DC HQ US Pacific Command, Camp Smith, HI Commander, Pacific Fleet HQ, Pearl Harbor, HI HQ US Army Pacific, Ft Shafter, HI HQ 3rd Fleet, San Diego, CA Department of Homeland Security, Customs Border Patrol San Diego Sector, San Diego, CA and US Northern Command, US Space Command, Peterson AFB, CO."

In the event IMS is authorize to report early than the reporting date showing on ITO, additional instruction need to be added. You can make the statement on Paragraph 15 - Special Remarks

"IMS is authorized to report to School as early as type the actual arrival date at his own expense and responsibility and at no cost to U.S. Government."

INITIAL FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS IMS MUST COME WITH A MINIMUM OF 6,500 DOLLARS IN AVAILABLE, READY CASH IN ORDER TO ESTABLISH A RESIDENCE. IMS attending the USAWC on a grant program e.g., IMET can request an advance on their living allowance however, that advance cannot exceed 3,000 dollars and will be repaid each month over the following 10 months at a reduced living allowance of 300 per month. If the IMS is returned early to home country, the remaining amount will be recouped from the final living allowance settlement. This advance must be requested before the IMS receives his/her first Living Allowance Reimbursement. After the first reimbursement is made, IMS become ineligible for an Advance.

LIVING ALLOWANCE REIMBURSEMENT IMS who attend on a U.S. Grant Program will receive a living allowance for housing and meals incidental expenses. The Housing Allowance is a reimbursable allowance that the IMS must file a voucher for through the Program Admin Officer. The first reimbursement voucher is typically filed at the completion of the first month on station. The reimbursement process typically takes 10-20 days from the time it arrives at the Defense Accounting Finance Service. In short, the IMS must have sufficient enough funds to live for the first 45 days after arriving at the USAWC.

HOUSING There is no on-post housing available for IMS whether single or with family members. A typical 3 bedroom, 2 bath home in the greater Carlisle area rents for about 2,000 dollars a month. Most landlords require a security deposit equal to one month's rent and the first month's rent up front before the IMS can occupy the residence. Some properties include utilities, but not all. To turn on electric, water, gas, trash pick-up, telephone and cable will cost about 500- 1,000 up front. So long as the property is in good shape, the IMS will be refunded the security deposit from the landlord at the end of the lease term.

TRANSPORTATION There is little public transportation available in the greater Carlisle area. One taxi service company and one public bus that services a very small part of the county are available. Therefore, privately owned vehicles POV are typically a necessity. Some IMS who chose to live a kilometer or less from Carlisle Barracks have typically relied on bicycle or ride sharing from class mates however, these IMS were geo-bachelors. If a family accompanies the IMS, a POV is required. The cost of a POV varies depending on age, type and availability. For instance, a 4-wheel drive Sport Utility Vehicle will cost much more than a 2-door compact sedan. A vehicle with 50k miles will cost more than the same vehicle with 100 k miles. On average, IMS attending the USAWC can expect to pay between 3,000 - 8,000 dollars for a well maintained POV.

UNIFORMS IMS must have Service Dress Class A Jacket with tie, all ribbons, badges and or authorized decorations Service Class B short sleeve shirt - no tie Combat Functional typical combat field uniform less tactical gear with proper field boots Mess Dress - there will be at least one opportunity to attend a black tie affair while at the USAWC. IMS will also be required to wear a civilian coat and tie or sport coat and tie for some off-post events.

Military students are selected to attend the USAWC by their respective Services. Officers are eligible for attendance after being promoted to O-5, through their 25th year of service. Applicants must have completed the Command and General Staff College, or equivalent, and should possess a baccalaureate degree. The USAWC does not accept individual applications into its Senior Service College programs except through special exceptions. Students are centrally selected by their component, thus USAWC receives its list of students by component, rather than receiving and processing individual applications. AR 350-1 governs Senior Service College selections for active duty Army, U.S. Army Reserve (USAR), and U.S. Army National Guard (ARNG). Senior Service College is voluntary for all Troop Program Unit (TPU), Individual Ready Reserve (IRR), Individual Mobilization Augmentee (IMA) officers, and Active Guard Reserve (AGR) officers. Eligible and interested AGR officers and non-AGR officers must submit a packet per the annually published "application instructions." Application instructions reside on the Reserve Human Resources Command web page under the HRC-St. Louis section at www.hrc.army.mil. Within the USAR, the Chief, Army Reserve (CAR) convenes a board annually in October that selects and ranks by competitive category qualified officers in the AGR program, TPU program, and IMA program. The board lists selected officers as either a primary or an alternate in an Order of Merit List (OML) for either the resident program or distance education program. The CAR is the approving authority for the board's recommendation and the results are usually announced in mid-December to early-January. Within the ARNG, the annual selection process starts with each state inviting all eligible colonels and lieutenant colonels to apply and submit required documents. The application and documents, along with the individual's personnel 201 file, are reviewed by a state board of colonels with the Assistant Adjutant General presiding over the board). The board develops an Order of Merit List (OML) that the Adjutant General approves. Each Adjutant General provides the list to the National Guard Bureau where a national board is convened. This board is made up of colonels and presided over by the Deputy Director of the Army National Guard. Two OML are then developed: Resident OML (with an alternate OML) and Distance Education OML (also with an alternate OML). The Chief, National Guard Bureau (CNGB) approves these lists. The Resident and the Distance Education OMLs (but not the alternate lists) are released to the states. The State Joint Force Headquarters of each state notifies the selected officers for both programs in the beginning of the year. The officer will accept or decline enrollment for the following academic year. Final lists are released to the Senior Service Colleges in March for both programs. International Fellows The Chief of Staff of the Army invites International Fellows (IF) from select countries to attend the USAWC REP and DEP each year. These programs offer an opportunity for IFs to participate in seminars, study, research, and write on subjects of significance to the security interests of their own and allied nations. The IFs establish mutual understanding and good working relationships with senior U.S. officers and senior officers of other foreign countries and enrich the educational environment of the USAWC. Since the IFs are immersed in U.S. culture, they have an opportunity to improve their firsthand knowledge of the U.S. and its institutions through study and travel throughout the Nation. Civilians Department of the Army Civilians (DAC) who wish to attend the program must apply according to the standards in AR 350-1. Other services should contact their appropriate personnel office to determine eligibility and admission procedures. Department of the Army Civilians Student allocations are available each year for DACs. Civilians are selected through a centralized selection board similar to Army officers. To attend the USAWC, DACs must be at the grade of GS/GM-14 or higher. Civilians under the National Security Personnel System (NSPS) must be in an equivalent pay band. Applicants need to have a minimum of three years in a full-time Department of the Army position and have leadership experience. The Office of the Assistant G-1 for Civilian Personnel handles applications. Details on the application process and eligibility requirements can be found in Chapter 2 of the Army Civilian Training, Education, and Development System Training Catalog at: <http://cpol.army.mil/library/train/catalog/ch02gen.html>. DACs may also compete within the Defense Senior Leader Development Program (DSLDP). DoD Civilians Applicants must submit their applications through their component DSLDP representative. Applicants are nominated for selection by a specific component selection process, participation in an assessment center, and by a DoD selection board. Applicants are evaluated and selected based on the information they submit in their nomination packages and their assessment center results. To attend the USAWC, DSLDP applicants must be at the grade of GS/GM-14 or higher. Civilians under NSPS must be in an equivalent pay band. Applicants must be full-time civilian employees of the DoD. Details may be found at Defense Senior Leader Development Program web site at www.cpms.osd.mil/jlidd/dslldp/DSLDP\_Program.aspx. Non-DoD Civilians Civilian employees of other federal agencies wanting to enroll need to do so through their component's chain of command. Description: The National Defense University offers one-year Fellowships to select senior officers and civilians from 53 nations. Participation in the National Defense University's International Fellow's Program is at the personal invitation of the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff. Country invitations are issued after recommendations have been obtained from the US Regional Unified Combatant Commands. The fellowships provide an opportunity to study at either the Eisenhower School for National Resource Strategy or the National War College. The IF Prep Course will aid the IMS in transitioning life in the U.S. and prepare for the academic year. Fellows participate in a comprehensive summer orientation to facilitate their transition to living in Washington, D.C. and to prepare for the academic year. Time is devoted to help them with various administrative needs. The orientation program consists of various briefings, computer training, cultural activities and Field Study travel in preparation for the academic year. The International Fellows program also includes extensive Field Study travel throughout the United States designed to acquaint the Fellows with U.S. military, cultural, and industrial institutions. Fellows travel frequently during the program and visit approximately 15 states during the year. Family members are invited to participate in select Field Studies throughout the year. Field Study travel is integral to the American Studies academic program conducted by ISMO, where Fellows have the opportunity to put their travel experience into the larger context of learning about American society (see description listed under American Studies course). Fellows are highly encouraged to attend as many travel programs as possible. Field Study travel begins in the IF Prep course and continues through the entire program. Additionally, the ISMO conducts a course, NDU 6400 Graduate Writing, which provides specific assistance and guidance to the Fellows with their academic writing requirements.

Upon arrival to this course, an IMS must have a minimum of 6,500.00 in order to pay for first month's rent, utilities and related living expenses. IMS reporting with no funds for these expenses will find it exceptionally difficult to get settled and will likely distract and take away their ability to concentrate on the graduate level education they will receive during this orientation period and the actual resident course.

The 42-day International Fellows Orientation Course will meet the course goals through a variety of educational means. The Course Director will adapt the specific lessons to meet the needs of the students in meeting course goals. --------	-----------------------	------	-----	-----	-----	----------	-----	-------	-------	-----	---------

The Inter-American Defense and Security Master of Science degree is a 12-month, fully accredited postgraduate program commensurate to the Department of Defense senior service college. The program is intended for military officers at the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel, or National Police and government civilians of equivalent ranks. The goal is to prepare senior government officials from member and observer states of the OAS to assume strategic-level advisors and leadership positions within their governments. The curriculum focuses on the comprehensive understanding of governmental systems, the current international environment, the structure and function of the Inter-American System, and a broad-based study of defense and security issues affecting the western hemisphere. In addition to the benefits of studying diverse ideas and perspectives, students are able to sharpen their critical thinking skills while developing close professional and personal relationships with classmates throughout the hemisphere. The overarching learning outcome is an in-depth understanding of the regional defense and security related disciplines, as well as enhanced abilities to do critical analysis, synthesis, research, and strategic communication skills. The themes are structured based on the four pillars of the OAS: Democracy, Human Rights, Multi-Dimensional Security, and Integral Development.

The academic program is conducted at the Inter-American Defense College, Fort Lesley J. McNair in Washington, D.C

The academic year is divided into two semesters. The first semester builds graduate-level academic skills; discusses theoretical and foundational concepts as well as the methodological tools required for conducting a diagnostic analysis of the international and regional geopolitical environment. The second semester focuses on assessing and applying these concepts through practically oriented classes and collaborative projects that highlight the challenges and opportunities for international cooperation in addressing the most important current and future defense and security issues in the Western Hemisphere. Seminars on Human Rights, Peace Support Operations and Complex Emergencies as well as trips to institutions such the United Nations and the OAS allow students to engage leading experts and hemispheric decision makers in complex issues such as human rights in non-traditional military missions, military judicial systems in the context of regional peace and stability. Additionally, visits to the Pentagon, Northern and Southern Commands, and Joint Interagency Task Force South emphasize the importance of civil-military relations and defense resource management.

The academic program is accomplished using a variety of teaching-learning modalities. The Program has six core modules comprising 6 weeks of lectures, group work, and visits to key local governmental institutions to observe the practical application of lessons studied in the classroom. The program also uses seminars, conferences, committees and workshops to provide a broader range of knowledge albeit in shorter time than the core courses (typically 2-8 days in length). Finally, there are three study trips aimed at grounding students' knowledge of abstract course concepts via field-based exposure to subject matter experts and institutions, providing them a professionally oriented platform for their analysis and synthesis and an experiential platform for cultural understanding and exchange. Location of study trips: New York City (1 week), Colorado and Florida (1 week), and typically 3-4 countries outside the United States (2 weeks).

Family Members/Dependents Encouraged. Since this is a yearlong program, the College encourages Students to bring their families with them for the duration of the course.

Dates of course do not change. Roundtrip transportation is authorized for this course and if used should be annotated in the special conditions block of the ITO to prevent duplication of transportation payment.

Students should be reminded of the high cost of living in the Washington, D.C. area. Depending on the number of family members accompanying the Student, considerable personal expense should be expected in addition to IMET (International Military Education Training) funding. Students accompanied by their families, and have school-age children, may wish to enroll their children in school. Immunization records will be required for school registration. The IMET staff can assist in determining additional local requirements and which school is appropriate for your child/children.

Language requirements: There are no English language training pre-requisites for this course. English and Spanish language proficiency is not required; however, some proficiency is preferred. On-site simultaneous interpretation and translation in Spanish, English, Portuguese and French is available.

TLA supported Students receive full TLA [$69 M&IE and $179 (November-February), $226 (March-June), $174 (July-August), $195 (September-October) for Lodging] in the D.C. area. TLA Students are billeted in quarters near Metro Stations and the IADC is located close to the Waterfront Metro Station on the Green Line, for individuals without a personal mode of transportation.

Army

USAWC - ASIP Joint
Carlisle, PA 17013

Course Description:

The course focuses on preparing senior officers to function effectively as land component commanders in a joint/combined, interagency, intergovernmental, and multinational environment. These commanders will need to plan, prepare for, and execute land centric operations that provide coalition commanders with capabilities to achieve policy objectives through sustained land dominance.

This seminar-based course challenges senior officers to examine the key elements of developing and executing land component command functions at the theater level in support of joint force commanders and in conjunction with air, maritime, and special operations functional commands. Operation Iraqi Freedom is used as a primary case study, and other current operations are also addressed. Discussions are guided by senior advisors, who are retired general officers who have previously served as joint and combined force land component commanders. The course also explores the challenges of maintaining sustained unified land operations in a complex operating environment. It includes a rigorous exercise which is crafted to challenge the attendees to issue guidance and devise solutions to deploying, forming, controlling, protecting, operating, and sustaining a combined and joint land command at the theater and operational level of war.

Course Prerequisite Text:

IF AMERICAN STUDIES
Army

NATIONAL WAR COLLEGE
Washington (Ft. McNair), DC 20319

Course Description:

Description: The IF American Studies course assists the IMS in gaining a balanced and nuanced understanding of the United States and contributes to their professional and future leadership development. The course explores American history, identity, and systems of government, democracy, education, media, commerce, and human services through classroom sessions and a robust field practicum program to civic, cultural, and industrial locations around the country. Curriculum is drawn from the objectives of the DoD Field Studies Program (DoDI 5410.17) and DoD leadership development guidance (OPMEP and CJCS Instruction). Fellows analyze strengths and weaknesses of the American system through the lens of Human Rights and apply their findings in individual and group assignments. Knowledge gained through participation in the program is used in writing final assessments at the colleges such as Individual Strategic Research Project (ISRP) papers or home country strategies vis-a-vis the United States.

American Studies runs concurrent to the IF Preparatory Course (B171805) and ES International Fellows (B171806) or NWC International Fellows (B171801) courses. Students earn academic credit for their participation in the course as part of their graduation requirements. Participation in all Field Practicum travel programs throughout the year and the summer American Studies introductory class is mandatory. Students may also elect to participate in an American Studies elective concentration course during the fall and spring elective periods in order to further explore these themes. By successfully completing all phases of the program the IMS will earn an American Studies certificate at graduation.

Course Prerequisite Text:

IMS travel approximately 45 days and visit 10-15 states on field practicums throughout the year. IMS must be prepared to travel for periods of 5-10 days. Family members may participate on a few select trips according to the guidelines set forth by the schoolhouse.

All travel arrangements, accommodations and per diem will be provided to IMS during travel periods.

IMS travel via both military airlift and commercial air, thus IMS should anticipate airport security screening procedures.

Uniform for field practicum programs is civilian business attire with program jacket. Classroom sessions at NDU are dress of the day.

In order to avoid TLA duplication, the courses dates for American Studies have been set to mirror the course dates for IF Prep B171805. In reality, the American Studies course runs the entire academic year June through June.

THREAT TACTICS COURSE
Army

TRADOC G-2 Analysis and Control Element (ACE)
Fort Leavenworth, KS

Course Description:

The Threat Tactics Course's (TTC) curriculum is focused on understand and applying an opposing force (OPFOR) threat in support of US Army training, professional education, and leader development learning objectives. The course explores the OPFOR composite which consists of a combination of traditional, irregular forces, and criminal organizations that represent varying capabilities of actual worldwide adversaries in doctrine, tactics and techniques, organization, and equipment. The TTC enables members of the training and intelligence community such as OPFOR units, threat scenario developers, training planners, and analysts the ability to understand, describe, and replicate a hybrid threat in support of deployments or training exercises. The TTC defines and explains the concepts of threat tactics, threat actors, and operational environment conditions and subsequent impacts on decisive action operations. The OPFOR is tailored to replicate realistic, robust, and relevant hybrid threats in operational environments (OEs) as presented in Army Regulation 350-2 (2015) and the US Army Training Circular (TC) 7-100 series. The TTC uses the US Army's Decisive Action Training Environment (DATE) to provide consistency in presenting OE variables and the threat in products in support of the US Army's training and education proponents.

COMMON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT-INSTRUCTOR COURSE
Army

INTELLIGENCE SCHOOL
Fort Huachuca, AZ 85613

Course Description:

The Instructor Course, one of two courses that comprise the Common Faculty Development Program, is a ten-day/80 hour course designed for new faculty (e.g. instructors, trainers, and facilitators). It is a competency-based course: the learning objectives are based on internationally recognized instructor competencies published by the International Board of Standards for Training, Performance, and Instruction (ibstpi). The course prepares new faculty to teach, train, and facilitate learning in an adult learning environment. It introduces new faculty to Army instructor roles and responsibilities, teaching and learning models, and professional and ethical requirements. The course also introduces classroom management techniques, the process for building learning objectives and lesson plans, and characteristics of effective communication. Throughout the course, new faculty will have an opportunity to practice teaching, working from short, simple practicum exercises to increasingly longer and more complex ones, culminating in an end of course lesson presentation. The first half of the course focuses on characteristics of effective instructors, self-awareness-of differences in teaching and learning style preferences-and fundamentals of teaching and learning as they apply to adults. The second week focuses more on application of those fundamentals in various teaching and learning practicums, with both instructor, peer, and self-assessment in a collaborative learning environment. The summative assessment will occur at the end of the course and consist of an individual 30- to 50-minute practicum.

Special Information:

This course is included in the CP-32 Certificate Training Program that is accredited by the American National Standard Institute (ANSI).

SECURITY ENGINEERING
Army

Humphreys Engineer Center
Alexandria, VA 22315-3860

Course Description:

PURPOSE: To provide a basic understanding of security engineering principles so that security, antiterrorism, and engineering personnel can work together more effectively to address security and antiterrorism/force protection issues at the inception of construction projects for new or existing facilities.

SCOPE: This course covers the information contained in the Unified Facilities Criteria (UFC) documents 4-020-01, Security Engineering Planning Manual, and UFC 4-020-02, Security Engineering Design Manual. These UFC/AEs are updated and expanded versions of the 3 volume series of Technical Manuals/Air Force Manuals (TM/AFMAN) 5-853/AFMAN 32-1071 on Security Engineering published in 1994. In addition, the course will cover the contents of UFC 4-010-01, DoD Minimum Antiterrorism Standards for Buildings, and UFC 4-010-02, DoD Minimum Antiterrorism Standoff Distances for Buildings. These UFC/AEs present a process by which planning teams including security and antiterrorism personnel, engineers, and other appropriate personnel, along with facility users, can formulate security and antiterrorism related design criteria for facilities. The design criteria consist of the assets to be protected, the threat to those assets in terms of specific aggressor tactics, the degree to which the asset will be protected against the threat, and any user-imposed design constraints. The UFC/AEs further provide a process by which protective measures to mitigate the threats to assets can be identified and integrated into total protective systems. They also provide means to estimate preliminary costs for the systems. In addition, the course provides information on how risk analysis and regulatory requirements for physical security and antiterrorism/force protection are incorporated into facility planning. The course consists of formal instructional periods in applying the processes in the UFC/AEs with interspersed sample problem exercises. The course also includes a comprehensive practical problem solved by students divided into interdisciplinary groups and presented to the class.

PERFORMANCE OBJECTIVE: Students will learn the concepts and philosophies of security engineering. Engineers and security personnel will gain a better understanding of each others' different needs and approaches. This understanding will enable them to work together more effectively to address security problems. Students should be able to apply the concepts and philosophies of security engineering sufficiently to put together preliminary solutions to real security and antiterrorism problems and work as partners on interdisciplinary planning teams.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND: Civilian and military (commissioned officer, warrant officer, and enlisted) personnel involved in security, antiterrorism, or engineering support to security and antiterrorism. Security personnel may include people from provost marshal or other security and law enforcement offices, especially those personnel involved in physical security. Antiterrorism personnel may include antiterrorism officers or personnel on antiterrorism staffs. Engineer personnel may include planners and designers from Corps of Engineers offices and Directorates of Public Works. In addition, emergency management personnel and those responsible for key asset protection will benefit from this course. Personnel from installation level, major command level, and Corps of Engineers district and division levels are encouraged to attend. Representatives from other government agencies may also attend.

This Program of Instruction (POI) complies with this objective. The battalion commander at the Army Training Center has the authority to organize, reorganize, and structure POI training lessons within each module to provide a logical sequence based on location, facilities, equipment, resources, or other contingencies, which might impact upon course presentation. COMBAT LIFESAVER COURSE - 06 EDITION

NG UNIT/SPEC SCHOOLS-VT
COLCHESTER, VT 05446-3004

Course Description:

Course Scope:

On the battlefield, the ability of trained medical personnel to provide immediate, far forward care is limited. The combat lifesaver (CL) is a nonmedical soldier trained to provide emergency care as a secondary mission. Each squad and crew should have at least one member trained to be a CL. There have been major revisions to the Combat Lifesaver Course. AR 350-1, Army Training and Education, governs the Combat Lifesaver program and supercedes AR 350-41, Training in Units. See paragraph 4-12, AR 350-1 for additional information on the Combat LifeSaver program. The changes to this program are consistent with the tenets of Tactical Combat Casualty Care and reflect the current thought of the Army Medical Department Center and School while conforming to printed Department of the Army doctrine as closely as currently possible.

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE s control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm , and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes .

City Cab 334-792-2138

Happy Cab 2334-390-0800

AAA Cab 334-393-0499 or 334-794-6359

13 Early arrivals are discouraged unless ITO is amended to reflect the new report date. IMS are unable to get an ID card prior to the report date on their ITO.

14 IMSO cell phone number is 334 714-1896 for non-life threatening emergencies only.

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE's control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm, and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes.

17 Rental cars are recommended for Advanced Aircraft Courses AQC, IPC, MTP, FSXXI IERW Track Courses, Aviation Maintenance Officer Course, Basic Officer Leadership Course, and Aviation Captain's Career Course. Fort Rucker does not provide transportation to these courses flight line or academics. All students attending Spanish Courses are provided transportation to and from the Flight Line. Students attending FSXXI IERW are required to ride the bus due to limited parking space at the Flight Line. However, they do require transportation to and from the pickup and drop off points for safety reasons. The pickup schedule for morning flight line training is around 0430. Drop off schedule for evening flight line training is after 0100.

18 If IMS arrive after hours or on the weekend, they need to check into the hotel. Emergency contact number is 334-714-1896 IMSO cell phone. They will need to report to IMSO at 0800 on the first working day after their arrival. They will need to bring the following items with them when they report

ITO with any amendments

Passport VISA for IMS and accompanied dependents

Medical records

Flight records

Proof of medical coverage for any accompanied dependents

Effective 2017-10-01

Course Scope:

This course is designed to give 68R junior enlisted Soldiers, 68R Noncommissioned Officers, and Veterinary Corps Officers the technical tasks, knowledge, and skills to conduct rapid and automated tests for indicators of food safety and wholesomeness at surveillance food laboratories. Officers and senior NCOs will also be trained to manage these programs within their units in accordance with the US Army Surveillance Food Laboratory Program Guide (SFLPG). Junior enlisted personnel will be trained as laboratory technicians while more senior personnel will be trained as managers. Training for junior enlisted includes the use and limitations of the assays; equipment use and maintenance; supplies and inventory; results determinations, recording, and interpretations; presumptive positive results; and reporting of results. Training for managers includes laboratory roll out, setup, and maintenance; personnel certification requirements; familiarization with testing methodologies; review and assessment of laboratory documents; establishing a food testing program and applied targeted testing; evaluation, response, and reporting of laboratory results; and laboratory audits. The majority of the course consists of hands-on technical wet labs for both technicians and managers, culminating in the grading of laboratory worksheets for technicians and a graded practical exercise for managers. Personnel that complete the course and subsequent proficiency testing through the DOD Food Analysis and Diagnostic Laboratory (FADL) will be designated as certified Surveillance Food Laboratory Technicians or Managers IAW the SFLPG. Individual subjects and laboratory methodologies emphasized are dependent upon the changing technology and mission of the contemporary operating environment.

AEROMEDICAL PSYCHOLOGY TRAINING
Army

USA SCHOOL OF AVIATION MEDICINE
FORT RUCKER, AL 36362

Course Description:

The course covers aviation medicine, flight psychology regulations, psychological issues of flight and combat, aircraft accident investigation, physiological effects of flight, experience a 25,000 foot altitude chamber flight, back seat flight time to include night vision goggles, and MEDECVAC hoist operations training.

Course Prerequisite Text:

- Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO. Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive. Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b, they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable. IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S.

Common Access Card CAC . Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

USA FLIGHT SURGEON (PRIMARY)

Army

USA SCHOOL OF AVIATION MEDICINE

FORT RUCKER, AL 36362

Course Description:

The course covers Army regulations pertaining to aviation medicine, Army flight surgeon responsibilities and procedures, Army Flying Duty Medical Exam administration, Army aviation organization and operations, rotary wing aerodynamics, aviation safety, aircraft accident investigation, flight physiology, aviation medicine issues of clinical specialties, health service support of aviation units and operations, aeromedical evacuation, and deployment medicine issues of the aviation operation environment.

Course Prerequisite Text:

1 Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO.

Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive.

Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b, they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable. IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S. Common Access Card CAC. Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

14 IMSO cell phone number is 334 714-1896 for non-life threatening emergencies only.

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE's control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm, and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes.

17 Rental cars are recommended for Advanced Aircraft Courses AQC, IPC, MTP, FSXXI IERW Track Courses, Aviation Maintenance Officer Course, Basic Officer Leadership Course, and Aviation Captain's Career Course. Fort Rucker does not provide transportation to these courses flight line or academics. All students attending Spanish Courses are provided transportation to and from the Flight Line. Students attending FSXXI IERW are required to ride the bus due to limited parking space at the Flight Line. However, they do require transportation to and from the pickup and drop off points for safety reasons. The pickup schedule for morning flight line training is around 0430. Drop off schedule for evening flight line training is after 0100.

18 If IMS arrive after hours or on the weekend, they need to check into the hotel. Emergency contact number is 334-714-1896 IMSO cell phone. They will need to report to IMSO at 0800 on the first working day after their arrival. They will need to bring the following items with them when they report

Course Prerequisite Text:

1 Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO.

Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive.

Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b, they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable. IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S. Common Access Card CAC. Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE's control. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm, and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes.

17 Rental cars are recommended for Advanced Aircraft Courses AQC, IPC, MTP, FSXXI IERW Track Courses, Aviation Maintenance Officer Course, Basic Officer Leadership Course, and Aviation Captain's Career Course. The 6-250-C1 (International) is a multinational, postgraduate level course. For international officers the course is 3 weeks long. The course focuses on strategic planning in the medical arena with emphasis on coalition operations. Major areas of instruction include US Army Medical Policy and Organization, Military Readiness, Medical Observer Training, International Law, Nongovernmental Organizations, Counterterrorism, Intercultural Relations, Nongovernmental Organizations, Strategic Lessons Learned, Media Relations, Force Health Protection, Research and Development, Interagency Planning, and Government Policy. Understanding of and concern for human rights is an integral part of the course. A primary goal is for senior U.S. and International military officers to form close professional and personnel bonds that allow a long-term relationship to develop. Through these relationships U.S. and international officers maintain contacts and work together to support seamless global medical operations. This is extremely important due to the steadily increasing incidence of coalition operations. This goal is accomplished using a management technique known as a "retreat". Students spend as much time as possible together discussing pertinent issues and sharing experiences. During the final week, when relationships solidify, students stay in the same lodging, eat all meals together, and participate in evening functions, both structured and unstructured. This program is divided into three segments. Segment One is for International students only and consists of five days of U.S. Army medical policy and organization, military readiness, and medical observation training. Segment Two is five days of in-residence instruction at the Army Medical Department Center and School, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas focusing on International Law, Counterterrorism, Intercultural Relations, Nongovernmental Organizations, and Strategic Lessons Learned. US Army students join the course at the beginning of Segment Two. Segment Three is convened in New York and Washington D.C. during which students spend five days participating in briefings and guided discussions on force health protection, research and development, media relations, interagency planning, and government policy.

13 Early arrivals are discouraged unless ITO is amended to reflect the new report date. IMS are unable to get an ID card prior to the report date on their ITO.

14 IMSO cell phone number is 334 714-1896 for non-life threatening emergencies only .

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE s control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm , and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes .

17 Rental cars are recommended for Advanced Aircraft Courses AQC, IPC, MTP , FSXXI IERW Track Courses, Aviation Maintenance Officer Course, Basic Officer Leadership Course, and Aviation Captain s Career Course. Fort Rucker does not provide transportation to these courses flight line or academics . All students attending Spanish Courses are provided transportation to and from the Flight Line. Students attending FSXXI IERW are required to ride the bus due to limited parking space at the Flight Line. However, they do require transportation to and from the pickup and drop off points for safety reasons. The pickup schedule for morning flight line training is around 0430. Drop off schedule for evening flight line training is after 0100.

18 If IMS arrive after hours or on the weekend, they need to check into the hotel. Emergency contact number is 334-714-1896 IMSO cell phone . They will need to report to IMSO at 0800 on the first working day after their arrival. They will need to bring the following items with them when they report

ITO with any amendments

Passport VISA for IMS and accompanied dependents

Medical records

Flight records

Proof of medical coverage for any accompanied dependents

This 6 day course is taught at two separate sites, simultaneously, to two separate groups of students. The biological portion (Phase 1) is taught at the United States Army Medical Research Institute of Infectious Diseases (USAMRIID) at Fort Detrick, Maryland. The chemical portion (Phase 2), which includes a field exercise, is taught at the United States Army Medical Research Institute of Chemical Defense (USAMRICD) at the Edgewood area of Aberdeen Proving Ground (APG-EA), Maryland. The order in which students receive Phase 1 and Phase 2 instruction is unimportant, but each student must complete both phases.

Course Prerequisite Text:

There is no IMSO at this location. AS soon as possible, Please contact the school for course registration sheets and reporting instructions, Chemical Casualty Care Division at (410) 436-2230/3393 or DSN 584-2230/3393, email: usamricdcccmail@amedd.army.mil
Students report and fly into Baltimore Washington Airport, Baltimore MD on Saturday. Students go to the USO office to meet the school representative and for transportation. If they arrive on a different than the report date, they will have to obtain their own transportation via the "Blue Shuttle" service for about $65.
Students reside in a commercial hotel at $85/day and transportation to and from the school is provided.

CLOTHING & OPTICAL INSERTS

The military chemical protective ensemble will be worn on several occasions during the chemical portion of the course. Some of the chemical protective ensembles contain charcoal residue and occasionally clothing worn under it is accidentally stained or cut. Therefore, all students must bring at least one set of old clothes, to be worn under protective gear that can be cut or stained. Students will not be reimbursed if this clothing is damaged during decontamination procedures.

ò Military should wear field uniform (BDUs/ACUs/DCUs/Operational Duty Uniform/PT Uniform)

ò Civilians should wear clothing that you do not want soiled with charcoal: i.e. denim or sweats.

If you wear glasses and require optical inserts for a protective mask, you should bring them. If you require inserts and do not have them, we urge that you postpone taking the course until you obtain them, because you will be severely handicapped during the field exercise without them. You should be familiar with MOPP donning procedures. Those who wear contact lenses need not worry about the optical inserts.

ARMY AVIATION MEDICINE CLINIC NCO COURSE
Army

USA SCHOOL OF AVIATION MEDICINE
FORT RUCKER, AL 36362

Course Description:

The course covers Army regulatory guidance for aviation medicine, the Aviation Medicine Program, Army flight surgeon responsibilities and procedures, Army flying duty medical exam administration, Army aviation organization and operations, and clinic practicums.

Course Prerequisite Text:

1 Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO.

Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive.

Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b, they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable. IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S. Common Access Card CAC. Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

14 IMSO cell phone number is 334 714-1896 for non-life threatening emergencies only .

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE s control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. They should come here with basic laundry skills, cooking skills without setting off fire alarm , and cleaning skills including cleaning the kitchen, stove, refrigerator, and washing dishes .

Course Prerequisite Text:

1 Family members dependents accepted with coordination with SATFA and IMSO.

Students must make sure they have adequate medical insurance for themselves and their dependents. Medical care in the U.S. is very expensive.

Fort Rucker is unable to provide adequate life-cycle support for IMS dependents. The SCO can authorize dependents on an ITO only after obtaining IMSO concurrence and this is to be done solely on a case-by-case basis. IMS who elect to bring unauthorized dependents will do so at their own expense and these dependents must maintain self-sufficiency for the duration of their sponsor's U. S. Army sponsored training in CONUS. Additionally, these unauthorized dependents will not receive a U. S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card. If the IMSO authorizes the SCO to include IMS dependents on the ITO, then DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 23 June 2010, the U. S. Army Supplement to DSCA Policy Memorandum 10-39, 2 September 2010, and the DSCA Policy Memorandum 11-32, 15 Aug 11, prevail. Prior to SCO including dependents on ITO line 12 a-b, they must first validate that the IMS has purchased proper, and sufficient healthcare coverage insurance if applicable. IMS whose authorized dependents arrive without proper healthcare coverage will not be issued a U.S. Common Access Card CAC. Additionally, these dependents will have a maximum of 10 working days in which to secure proper and sufficient healthcare coverage or obtain country indemnification via an ITO agreement. A copy of the healthcare coverage insurance policy is to be provided to the IMSO for review and approval. When it is confirmed that the policy includes proper and sufficient healthcare coverage, then the IMSO may proceed with issuing the U.S. Uniformed Services Identification and Privilege Card to the authorized dependents.

The SCO is required to provide the IMS dependent's healthcare insurance policy in English to the IMSO at the first CONUS training location not later than 16 days prior to IMS report date. The policy may be mailed to the IMSO, but must be received by the IMSO not later than 16 days prior to the report date to the first CONUS training location

15 Many courses are filled with curriculum and training up to the day of graduation. Some flying courses may be extended due to weather and other things beyond USAACE s control. Therefore, Country SCO should not purchase round trip tickets for the IMS with a specified end date. End date should be left open to avoid Country having to pay penalties in case training is delayed. We will not schedule IMS to leave on holidays or weekends unless it is an emergency. IMSO will make every effort to accommodate and assist students, but staff overtime resources required for student airport transportation are limited. Worst case, taxi service is available and IMSO can assist in coordination.

16 IMSO realizes that many of our IMS are accustomed to having domestic help in their homes. They need to be advised that domestic help in the US is very expensive. be required to cover all remaining meals. - For additional information, regarding subject course, you can check the following web-site: <http://www.dmrti.army.mil>

IMS will be responsible for obeying all state and local traffic rules, and AMEDDC&S regulations. The local communities rigidly enforced all "traffic laws". All passengers in the vehicle, to include children, are required to wear seatbelts at all times. This rule is strictly enforced and carries very strong penalties, if violated by IMS while in training, consequences will be extreme; termination of training and return to home-country.

Medical

Brooke Army Medical Center (BAMC) is physically located on Fort Sam Houston and operates an extensive, comprehensive medical treatment facility which provides all the medical services IMS and their family members are entitled to.

Miscellaneous Information

ò National and Religious Holiday: The IMS in training with U.S. personnel will not be routinely excused from class for prayer or holidays. However, schools are encouraged to permit IMS in good academic standing to observe the two holidays per year selected by their countries provided critical training or testing is not scheduled. The two holidays are chosen by the countries, and published in the Combined Education and Training Program Plan. The DISAM places the compiled list on the SAN Web. Holidays are permitted only if a student is in good standing in class and classes missed do not include a major requirement or exam. Release from training during these holidays are 100% dependent upon instructor approval. Training will always take priority.

ò Passport/Visa/I-94: It is recommended that IMS carry their passport and visa with them at all times. The U.S. Visa is the authority to travel to the United States during the valid period; it has no relation to the period of stay in the United States. The Form I-94 is the Department of Homeland Security's Arrival / Departure Record issued to the IMS. Rather than distributing a paper Form I-94, the IMS's passport will be scanned generating an electronic arrival record. The U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) will issue an automated Form I-94 to the IMS when they enter the United States at air or sea ports of entry and place an admission stamp on their travel document (a paper version of the I-94 may be obtained at www.cbp.gov/I94). IMS arriving via ground transportation will receive a paper Form I-94 and the USCIS Inspector will write a date or "D/S" (duration of status) on the Form I-94. This date, in conjunction with the ITO, forms the documentation that governs the IMS status in the United States. Each IMS is responsible for his/her own travel documents. If there are any discrepancies IMS should contact his / her embassy to correct the problem immediately. Only their embassy can change a passport. Mailing of passports should always be via Registered Mail, Return Receipt Requested.ò All IMS are required to have minimum six (6) months remaining on their passport upon completion of training and returning to their country.

ò Schools: IMS accompanied by their families, including school-age children, may wish to enroll the children in school. Immunization records will be required for school registration. IMSO staff will assist you in determining additional local requirements and which school is appropriate for your child/children.

ò The AMEDDC&S does not conduct routine operations or training on weekends, or legal holidays. Normal working hours are Monday-Friday, 0730-1730. Security Cooperation Officers (SCO) should ensure that the receiving IMSO is provided a minimum 5 day notice for all IMS arrivals; this information should include flight itinerary, as well as any other pertinent information regarding IMS. In order to ensure that the IMS is properly in-processed, IMS report date on the Invitational Travel Orders (ITO) should be at least 3 working days prior to the course start date. This information can be e-mailed, entered in SAN, faxed 210-221-8968, or called commercial 210-221-8178 or (DSN 471). Upon notification, arrangements can be made for student to be properly met at the airport. IMS arriving without notification should proceed immediately to the airport Military Reception Desk, or the nearest telephone; and call (210) 889-1232 or 210-240-2506 for assistance. More information can be obtained at the airports USO. The International Military Student Office (IMSO), is primarily responsible for all incoming International Military Students (IMS). Please ensure that all copies of Invitational Travel Orders (ITO), are either e-mailed or fax to the following: International Military Student Office (IMSO), ATTENTION: Blanca.L.Wheeler.civ@MAIL.MIL or Oscar.R.RamosRivera.civ@MAIL.MIL. The Sapper Leader Course prepares junior leaders to lead and execute combat engineer tasks & missions in a physically demanding, stressful, and austere contemporary operating environment. Sapper leaders require an in-depth level of training on patrol orders, small unit movement and the associated risks on today's battlefield. The course reinforces combat engineer skills that young leaders learn during other phases of professional military education (PME), such as the Advanced Leader Course (ALC), while focusing their learning on the small unit leadership skills and techniques needed to lead combat engineer units at the squad through company level. This course is taught over 28 consecutive days and combines both classroom instruction and hands-on application. The course includes intense field training exercises to reinforce the use of battle drills, patrolling, and specialized techniques learned throughout the course. Students, serving in various leadership positions, are presented with challenging combat engineer related missions requiring the utilization of patrol orders, inspections, rehearsals, battle drills, and movement techniques (both mounted and dismounted) in order to successfully execute the mission. Primary areas of focus are demolitions (conventional and expedient), route reconnaissance and clearance, counter improvised explosive device (CIED) operations, search operations, combatatives, technical and tactical engineer reconnaissance, urban mobility operations including structural breaching, explosive hazards, small unit mobility through restricted/mountainous terrain, aerial operations, water borne operations, troop leading procedures and combat orders.

EMERGENT TOPICS IN INTL & OPERATIONAL LAW
Army

JAG'S LEGAL CENTER AND SCHOOL
Charlottesville, VA 22903

Course Description:

This course addresses emerging and/or emergent legal issues that are likely to confront Judge Advocates and other practitioners assigned to international and operational law billets. Although the course is held in conjunction with the Operational Law of Armed Conflict Course (OPLOAC) (5F-F47), it is also intended to serve as a stand-alone course for experienced practitioners who may not be able to attend the two-week OPLOAC, and who wish to examine the selected focus area in depth. (Of note, students attending OPLOAC will also be attending the Emergent Topics in International and Operational Law Course.) The course provides TJAGLCS and the JAG Corps with operational flexibility to address emergent topics in international and operational law, and therefore the focus of instruction for each course will change in accordance with evolving legal issues. As such, the course description will be updated on a course-by-course basis in the Army Training Requirements and Resources System (ATRRS) in advance of each session. For the August 2013 session, the course will focus on the evolution of the DoD Rule of Law mission and security cooperation and assistance operations. Lectures will reference previous DoD Rule of Law missions associated with stability and counterinsurgency operations, but the primary focus of instruction will be on security cooperation and assistance efforts by the various geographic combatant commands that will serve as the future foundation of DoD Rule of Law missions. Additionally, lectures will provide a comparative analysis of several legal traditions that exist in areas where attendees may find themselves conducting operations to develop the Rule of Law. Speakers from the Department of Defense, Geographic Combatant Commands, Department of State, Department of Justice, U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), U.S. Army Civil Affairs and other government agencies will explain their respective organizations' roles in such operations. The speakers will also help attendees understand how to coordinate interagency efforts to improve unity of action in operations to develop the Rule of Law. At the conclusion of the course, attendees will have a better understanding of how joint and interagency operations to promote and develop the Rule of Law are conducted in various regions of the world.

Special Information:

The course commences with introductions and team building exercises in order to create a positive learning dynamic in the classroom. The first two weeks of the course will focus on English grammar, covering both basic and advanced fundamentals of the language. Week three will include practice in participating in group discussion and presenting material as a group and individually. The objectives for this module will prepare students for interaction in their respective core course seminars at the USAWC. Preparation for integration into the USAWC resident course continues with study and practice in reading effectively and thinking critically, skills that are necessary to negotiate the volume of reading required, as well as a focus on exposure to research opportunities and help in understanding the process of research to be incorporated into writing. The Pre-writing, Documentation and Plagiarism module follows, with an emphasis on how to properly document sources and avoid plagiarism. This week also begins delving into the early stages of the writing process through pre-writing-exercises and techniques to create and synthesize topic ideas. The course continues with two weeks of writing instruction focused on building a piece of writing from topic selection, through the writing process of developing an outline, to drafting an introduction. The next module will focus on the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL). Students will become more familiar with the test itself, learn to manage the time restriction of the test, and practice the skills and exercises included within the test. While the last week is an opportunity for students to combine all they have learned into a final research paper-meant to mimic the requirements and standards of USAWC core course papers that they will be assigned throughout the year, it is also a culmination of all prior study and practice. This concluding module includes a full day of peer and instructor review of final papers to help students understand the value of peer review, followed by two more days of TOEFL preparation and a practical exercise, one day of summaries of the writing and research process, and a final Graduate Skills Diagnostic. The last week will conclude with collection of final papers and graduation. This final week also includes a one-on-one student teacher conference which provides an opportunity for individualized feedback and allows for specific recommendations designed to aid student efforts to successfully integrate into the USAWC and complete required academic work. In addition to the respective core focus for each week, some activities will be completed on a continuing basis in order to cement skills and develop core competencies necessary for success in the USAWC resident course.

COMMON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT-INSTRUCTOR COURSE
Army

USATC-Benning
FORT BENNING, GA 31905

Course Description:

Effective 2017-12-19

Course Scope:

The Instructor Course, one of two courses that comprise the Common Faculty Development Program, is a ten-day/80 hour course designed for new faculty (e.g. instructors, trainers, and facilitators). It is a competency-based course: the learning objectives are based on internationally recognized instructor competencies published by the International Board of Standards for Training, Performance, and Instruction (ibstpi). The course prepares new faculty to teach, train, and facilitate learning in an adult learning environment. It introduces new faculty to Army instructor roles and responsibilities, teaching and learning models, and professional and ethical requirements. The course also introduces classroom management techniques, the process for building learning objectives and lesson plans, and characteristics of effective communication. Throughout the course, new faculty will have an opportunity to practice teaching, working from short, simple practicum exercises to increasingly longer and more complex ones, culminating in an end of course lesson presentation. The first half of the course focuses on characteristics of effective instructors, self-awareness-of differences in teaching and learning style preferences-and fundamentals of teaching and learning as they apply to adults. The second week focuses more on application of those fundamentals in various teaching and learning practicums, with both instructor, peer, and self-assessment in a collaborative learning environment. The summative assessment will occur at the end of the course and consist of an individual 30- to 50-minute practicum.

Special Information:

This course is included in the CP-32 Certificate Training Program that is accredited by the American National Standard Institute (ANSI).

The Army Basic Instructor Course ABIC is a 10-day, 80 hour course designed to train and educate instructor facilitators in the principles of adult learning. Effective learning is examined through the delivery of multiple instructional methods. The ABIC student will use a Training Development Capability TDC approved lesson plan and demonstrate the ability to build 21st Century Soldier Competencies in their target audience. They are required to evaluate themselves and peers using a measure of effectiveness rubric that links instructor competencies with the 21st Century Soldier competencies during process-focused after action reviews.

Group discussions and daily homework assignments are used to discuss the Army Learning Model ALM 2015 instructional methodologies and instructor facilitator responsibilities. Students evaluate their lesson plan for completeness and identify instructor responsibilities within the Army Leader Development model.

MLRS SECTION CHIEF ALC
Army

NCO ACADEMY - FIELD ARTILLERY
FT SILL, OK 73503

Course Description:
Course Scope:

MLRS Section Chief, ALC incorporates the new Army Learning Model for 2015 (ALM 2015) supporting outcomes based methodology. It integrates 21st Century Soldier Competencies into learning content and converts most classroom experiences into collaborative problem solving events led by facilitators (vice instructors) who engage learners to think and understand the relevance and context of what they learn. The incorporation of ALM 2015 methods allows the Section Chief's training and education to move beyond the minimalist approach to standards-based training and achieve the desired excellence and mastery of training doctrine. The concept of visualizing training purpose and goals is applied and conditions are promoted which allow Soldiers to demonstrate agility, show initiative and creativity, and grow confident in ambiguity while in a climate that encourages freedom to try different solutions to challenging problems (how to think, not what to think). ALM 2015 initiatives will be incorporated in the course through the use of Advanced Situational Awareness Training (ASAT), VBS2S Scenarios, Blackboard, Field Training Exercise and Simulation/Simulator Strategies. Course Outcomes: Sergeants/Staff Sergeants that fully understand and demonstrate proficiency in the 21st Soldier competencies appropriate to their level. Sergeants and Staff Sergeants capable of operating with tactical efficiency within Army Doctrine as a Section chief within a platoon as part of a combined arms element. Sergeants/Staff Sergeants aware of their role as a member of the Army Profession and able to apply those ideas through the application of leadership using Army values and ethics. Sergeants/Staff Sergeants capable of applying the four Attributes; lead; train and educate; care for Soldiers and equipment; maintain and enforce standards. Sergeants/Staff Sergeants capable of adaptive and critical thinking to take appropriate action as situation dictates, and are able to communicate (orally or written) effectively. Staff Sergeants capable of assuming the Platoon Sergeant role in his absence. Demonstrate lifelong learning and proficiency through testing and re-training of critical Structured Self Development (SSD) 1 subjects.

MLRS PLATOON SERGEANT SLC

Army

NCO ACADEMY - FIELD ARTILLERY

FT SILL, OK 73503

Course Description:

Course Scope: MLRS Platoon Sergeant, SLC incorporates the new Army Learning Model for 2015 (ALM 2015) supporting outcomesbased methodology. It integrates 21st Century Soldier Competencies into learning content and converts most classroom experiences into collaborative problem solving events led by facilitators (vice instructors) who engage learners to think and understand the relevance and context of what they learn. The incorporation of ALM 2015 methods allows the Platoon Sergeant's training and education to move beyond the minimalist approach to standards-based training and achieve the desired excellence and mastery of training doctrine. The concept of visualizing training purpose and goals is applied and conditions are promoted which allow Soldiers to demonstrate agility, show initiative and creativity, and grow confident in ambiguity while in a climate that encourages freedom to try different solutions to challenging problems (how to think, not what to think). ALM 2015 initiatives will be incorporated in the course through the use of Advanced Situational Awareness Training (ASAT), VBS2S Scenarios, Blackboard, Situational Training Exercise and Simulation/Simulator Strategies. The Senior Leader Course is designed to train and teach the 13M Platoon Sergeant to perform skill level 4. Skills focused on the duties of the Platoon Sergeant and Battalion Ammunition Platoon Sergeant. The course also teaches the Soldier the daily duties and responsibilities of the First Sergeant.

Course Outcomes: Staff Sergeants/Sergeant First Class that fully understand and demonstrate proficiency in the 21st Soldier competencies appropriate to their level. Staff Sergeants/Sergeant First Class capable of operating with tactical efficiency within Army Doctrine as a Platoon Sergeant within a battery/platoon as part of a combined arms element. Staff Sergeants/Sergeant First Class aware of their role as a member of the Army Profession and able to apply those ideas through the application of leadership skills using Army values and ethics. Staff Sergeants/Sergeants/Sergeant First Class capable of applying the four attributes; lead; train and educate; care for Soldiers and equipment; maintain and enforce standards. Staff Sergeants/Sergeant First Class capable of adaptive and critical thinking to take appropriate action as situation dictates, and are able to communicate (orally or written) effectively. Sergeant First Class capable of assuming the First Sergeant and Platoon leader role in their absence. Demonstrate lifelong learning and proficiency through testing and retraining.

Arrivals The IMSO will pick up all IMS arriving to the Richmond International Airport except those arriving on a US Holiday and those who get rental cars from the airport. There are several taxis at the airport, but it is recommended that you use the James River taxi service as they are the most cost effective. All IMS arriving at midnight or later or on a US Holiday, will take a taxi from the airport to the IHG Army Hotel. The cost of the fair should be approximately 36.00 if you use James River Taxi. Request a receipt from the driver. Upon arrival to the IHG Army Hotel front desk, they will have a welcome bag for you.

Departures

Every IMS will complete an out processing sheet. The out processing sheet will be placed in your IMSO mailbox. The out processing sheet, your ID card and all dependent ID cards must be turned in to the IMSO on graduation day. Transportation to the airport is at the student s expense. Students who receive TLA from this training location will receive your taxi allowance in your last pay. Upon settling your voucher in country, you will need to have a copy of the taxi receipt as proof of payment, if not you will owe.

Fort Lee Post Office

The Post Office at Fort Lee is located in Building P-9030 across the street from SunTrust Bank on Mahone Avenue. Hours of operation are 1030 to 1600, Monday - Friday. You can buy stamps as well as arrange for any special mailing. Make sure all mail has the appropriate postage or it will not be delivered.

ALU Mailroom

For personal mail, each international student is required to in-process at ALU s Mailroom located in the C-Wing, Building 12500, Bunker Hall. Students attending courses at ALU for 30 days or more will be issued a mailbox. Students who reside in the IHG Army Lodging will only receive mail in the ALU Mailroom. Do not use the lodging address as your mailing address. All personnel with an assigned mail box will use the following address

Students Name

US Army Logistics University
 Student s Course and Class Number Example TRANS BOLC 18-003
 Box Number
 2401 Quarters Road
 Fort Lee, Virginia 23801-1705

Those attending ALU courses for less than 30 days receive mail at the Mailroom window and will not receive a mailbox. As part of the out processing sheet, you are required to clear the mailroom and provide a forwarding address. The address should be a duty or home address in your country, the IMSO office is not to be listed as a forwarding address. Hours of operation are Monday through Friday, 1030-1630. The Mailroom is closed on Saturday, Sunday, Training Holidays and all US Holidays. See student handbook for an example of how you should address a letter.

Routine messages, announcements and ITO amendments are delivered to your individual mailbox in the IMSO and also by email. Check for messages at least once a day.

Contacting Your Embassy

While at ALU, you may use the phones in the IMSO lounge to contact your embassy in Washington, D.C.

Medical Dental Care

Medical. Prior to arrival, please inform the IMSO of any and all medical issues associated with the IMS and or dependents via a separate e-mail. An example would be if an IMS requires a very specific expensive and not readily available prescription medicine. Another example would be to ensure there is adequate OB GYN physicians available for dependents. Ensure you have IMSO approval prior to adding dependents to the ITO.

The medical treatment facility on Fort Lee is the Kenner Army Health Clinic. Refer to the ITO to determine where the IMS and dependents will receive medical care. It is a requirement for dependents to have medical insurance before they depart from country. In most cases, students are responsible for dependents medical care.

Bull Dental Clinic is available for emergency dental care only to the International Military Students not their dependents.

Miscellaneous Information

Student parking is authorized in the paved, wooded lot east of Building 12500 and in the Jessup parking lot near the traffic light at the intersection of Jessup Street and Mahone Avenue. Students are not authorized to park in the lot behind Building 12500 Bunker Hall nor the parking lot to the right of Bldg 12420 Heiser Hall this parking area is for staff and faculty only

AVIATION COMBINED ARMS TACTICAL TRAINER (AVCATT)
 Army
 Illesheim
 Illesheim, GY 91471

Course Description:

The Aviation Combined Arms Tactical Trainer (AVCATT) is Army aviation's only collective training system of record for Active, Reserve and Army National Guard aviation units. AVCATT is a mobile, transportable, multi-station virtual simulation device that supports unit collective and combined arms training for helicopter aircrews. The trainer is composed of two trailers per suite with six reconfigurable modules for the Apache Longbow, Chinook, Lakota and Black Hawk. The Non-Rated Crewmember Manned Module (NCM3) introduces a third trailer containing two reconfigurable modules that can be linked to the AVCATT's UH-60 Black Hawk and CH-47 Chinook cockpit configurations to support a unit's specific mission training requirements. Both the AVCATT and NCM3 use Helmet Mounted Displays for out-the-window scenes.

AVCATT provides unit collective and combined arms air-to-ground training for AH-64, UH-60, CH-47 and UH-72 aircrews within the Live, Virtual and Constructive-Integrated Training Environment. The AVCATT also supports the training of nonrated crew members in crew coordination, flight, aerial gunnery, and hoist and sling-load related tasks via the NCM3.

Students will report to Bldg 1263, Camp Albertshof, Hohenfels Training Area (HTA). Mr. Ed Scott (phone: +49-947-283-5091 {office} or +49-152-0850-7217 {cell}) is the billeting/room assignment POC. Student POCs should call Mr. Scott approximately 30 minutes prior to their arrival at Gate 5, HTA, to insure someone is available to guide the travelers to the reception/accommodations. Training is conducted daily from 0800 to 2000. Meals are provided starting with the dinner meal around 1600 on reception day and ending with breakfast on departure day; all meals are provided by the dining facility at no cost to the student. Students who desire internet access may bring Wi-Fi capable laptops; there are a few locations on post with Wi-Fi capability and are open /available in the evenings. The expectation is that all Soldiers attending this course will be present for every element of the training and capable of completing the entire event.

Nuremberg (Nnrnberg) is much closer to Hohenfels than Munich (Mnnchen), so Nuremberg is the preferred destination for flying to Germany (airport code: NUE). Nnrnberg is also preferable as it is a small, uncomplicated airport.

Taking a train from the Nnrnberg airport is the easiest option. Ticket machines are located directly outside the arrival area with an escalator left of the machines (as you exit the airport) to the trains. Purchase a "Bayernpass" (Bavaria Pass) for each group of five travelers. The Pass is valid for German trains (except very high speed - ICE or Railjet trains) plus subways throughout Bavaria. A ticket for up to 5 passengers to travel together is 29 Euros. One of the travelers must print (his/her) name on the back of the ticket to validate it for travel. On weekdays, the pass is valid from 0900 in the morning until 0300 on the following morning and from 0700 to 0300 on Saturdays and Sundays.

Nnrnberg subway (S-Bahn) has a station directly at the airport. Take the S-Bahn to Nnrnberg main station (Nnrnberg Hauptbahnhof abbreviated Hbf). The airport is the end of the line you so cannot get on a train going in the wrong direction-only option is toward the city center.

Upon arrival at Nnrnberg Hbf, take the train toward Parsberg-it is on the train line to Mnnchen but ensure the train is scheduled to stop at Parsberg as some do not. Take a Regional Express (RE) train as ICE trains may not stop there plus the Bayernpass is not valid on the ICE! Usually, one or two trains leave Nnrnberg Hbf toward Parsberg every hour.

No transport will be arranged by JMRC from the from train station; Soldiers must hire a taxi to travel to Hohenfels. If the required information to arrange post access was returned as requested, the taxi will be able to access the installation and take personnel directly to the billets. If access information was not returned, the taxi will have to leave Soldiers at Gate-5 of Hohenfels Training Area. If no taxi is at the train station, the number for a taxi in Parsberg is +49 (0)9492-6474 or +49-171-245-6474, +49-171-249-6474 or +49-1609-089-3606. Drivers for this taxi company are allowed to enter the Hohenfels main post as long as the passenger is on the access roster. Plan to pay around 30 Euros for the taxi (3 or 4 soldiers will be able to ride together) between the Parsberg train station and Hohenfels Training Area.

Additional Items for CIED DtD Baseline:

1. Army Combat Helmet
2. Individual Body Armor / load-bearing equipment
3. Gloves
4. Eye protection
5. Hearing Protection
6. Hydration system or canteen
7. Military drivers license
8. Sleeping bag and pillow
9. Shower Shoes
10. Lock (to secure personal items)

Students will sleep in "Troop Billets" (open bays) and eat in the on-post dining facility at no cost to the student. No linen or bedding is provided, hence students must bring a sleeping bag or sheets, blankets and a pillow.

inclusion of weapons immersion, a 36-hour situational training exercise (STX), and an evaluated Land Navigation Course. The STX centers on competency, battle focused combat scenarios, and troop-leading procedures. Evaluation centers on their ability to demonstrate troop-leading procedures in current threat-based scenarios that will enhance their 360-degree assessment.

Special Information:

This course supports the 22 training day POI for AC. The course will be training using a five-day week, using a course length of 4 weeks, 2 days. Soldiers, whose reservations were made after 1 October 2007, are only required to report with documentary evidence of physical profile and SSD1 completion certificate. Soldiers may enroll with a temporary Profile (i.e. shaving and other non-performance related issues). The Profile MUST NOT prevent them from meeting all physical tasks and the physical graduation requirements such as taking and passing the APFT and carrying load bearing equipment during the FTX. *Temporary Profile Exceptions: Soldiers will train within the limits of their profiles. If a Soldier on a Temporary profile cannot complete ALL the events of the APFT or meet all the physical requirements, they will NOT be allowed to enroll in BLC. If a student receives a temporary profile during the course and can complete the course requirements with the temporary profile, the student can graduate and receive a DA Form 1059 indicating course standards were met. This determination resides with the Commandant. *Permanent Profiles: Soldiers possessing permanent profiles 3 or 4 must provide a copy of the DA Form 3349, with signatures from the profiling officer, and the approving authority (a physician). Commandants do not need to sign unless they disagree with the profile findings. P2 profiles require an only doctor's signature. Soldiers attending this course should bring the following items at a minimum:

- Uniform, duty
- Undergarments
- Headgear (as prescribed by their respective country)
- Inclement weather clothing (i.e. wet weather, cold weather, etc.)
- Personal hygiene items
- Writing instruments/paper for note taking
- Other items they deem they need to bring.

ODCs must arrange transportation to and from home station and have transportation available while attending this course due shortage of local transportation assets and distances between billeting locations, training sites and dining facilities.

Students attending this course must arrive at Gate 6 of the Grafenwoehr Training Area (GTA) not later than 1600 on the day prior to course "Start Date". They will be met by a representative of the course, escorted to their billeting and briefed on the training location, training schedule and administrative requirements. They should call the course representative (POC) when they are approximately 30 minutes from the gate. IMT will provide the ODC the course POC name and cell phone number the week prior to course start date. ODCs should send a cell phone number of the student (or the Student Leader if traveling as part of a group) to IMT the week prior to their arrival.

If flying, Nuremberg (Nnrnberg) is much closer to Grafenwoehr than Munich (Mnnchen), so Nuremberg is the preferred destination for flying to Germany (airport code: NUE). Nnrnberg is also preferable as it is a small, uncomplicated airport. Students can rent a car at the Airport with a valid credit card. Again, students must arrange transportation to and from home station and have transportation available while attending this course due to shortage of local transportation assets and distances between billeting locations, training sites and dining facilities.

Students will sleep in "Troop Billets" (open bays) and eat in the on-post dining facility at no cost to the student. No linen or bedding is provided, hence students must bring a sleeping bag or sheets, blankets and a pillow.

10. Shower Shoes
11. Lock (to secure personal items)

BASIC LEADER
Army

8th Army NCO Academy
Camp Jackson, AP 96258

Course Description:

Effective 2015-10-02

Course Scope:

The Basic Leader Course (BLC) is branch immaterial. The conduct of the course takes place in an NCO Academy non-live-in environment in accordance with the small group instruction process. It consists of minimal classroom dynamics and practical application with an intense field training environment that involves hands-on, performance-oriented training. The course graduates leave equipped with standards-based, performance-oriented, battle-focused training that supports squad level operations. It provides the Army with a leader who can visualize, describe, and execute squad level operations in varied operational environments. It is a leader course that produces a predictive, adaptive, and innovative combat leader capable of leading Soldiers in any situation. The instructional design and methods of delivery consists of face-to-face instruction, learner-centered outcomes, based on today's contemporary operational environment, and used to reinforce all small unit tactics, techniques, and procedures. The course incorporates recent lessons learned, 9 battle drills, 39 warrior tasks with the inclusion of weapons immersion, a 36-hour situational training exercise (STX), and an evaluated Land Navigation Course. The STX centers on competency, battle focused combat scenarios, and troop-leading procedures. Evaluation centers on their ability to demonstrate troop-leading procedures in current threat-based scenarios that will enhance their 360-degree assessment.

Special Information:

This course supports the 22 training day POI for AC. The course will be training using a five-day week, using a course length of 4 weeks, 2 days. Soldiers, whose reservations were made after 1 October 2007, are only required to report with documentary evidence of physical profile and SSD1 completion certificate. Soldiers may enroll with a temporary Profile (i.e. shaving and other non-performance related issues). The Profile MUST NOT prevent them from meeting all physical tasks and the physical graduation requirements such as taking and passing the APFT and carrying load bearing equipment during the FTX. *Temporary Profile Exceptions: Soldiers will train within the limits of their profiles. If a Soldier on a Temporary profile cannot complete ALL the events of the APFT or meet all the physical requirements, they will NOT be allowed to enroll in BLC. If a student receives a temporary profile during the course and can complete the course requirements with the temporary profile, the student can graduate and receive a DA Form 1059 indicating course standards were met. This determination resides with the Commandant. *Permanent Profiles: Soldiers possessing permanent profiles 3 or 4 must provide a copy of the DA Form 3349, with signatures from the profiling officer, and the approving authority (a physician). Commandants do not need to sign unless they disagree with the profile findings. P2 profiles require an only doctor's signature. Soldiers possessing permanent profile designators of "3" or "4" who have been before an MMRB, awarded medical limitations, and allowed to retain their occupational classification will be permitted to attend various courses and train within the limitations of their profile. *Pregnant soldiers: - Prior to the course may not attend BLC until medically cleared. - Diagnosed as pregnant while attending BLC may continue, but they must provide written documents from doctor that states they can participate in all course physical requirements. Soldiers medically dismissed for pregnancy after enrollment are eligible to return to the course when medically cleared. Wounded Warrior: Commandants will not deny enrollment or disenrollment of Soldiers based on physical profiles resulting from MMEB or MEB rulings. These soldiers can attend PME and MOS courses. These are soldiers who previously were unable to meet course requirements as a result of physical limitations that have been formally acknowledged by either the wounded warriors program and/or a permanent profile as a result of a MOS/medical retention board or medical evaluation board, and that are properly documented using the military physical profile for physical condition/stamina, upper extremities, lower extremities, hearing/ear, eyes, and psychiatric (PULHES) code. 	MISSION COMMAND PROGRAM Army					7TH ARMY NCOA GRAFENWOEHR, GY 09114
	Course Description:
	Purpose: The JMTC Mission Command Program serves as the subject matter expert for the U.S. Army Europe on the application and instruction of mission command and provides longitudinal, progressive, and sequential training for USAREUR units and NATO troop contributing nations on the Art of Mission Command and the Science of Control in order to prepare those units for Full Spectrum Operations and scheduled deployments through the training and mentoring of agile, adaptive commanders and staffs.
	Course Description: The Mission Command Program provides a War College styled seminar with facilitated discussion, which utilizes doctrine, concepts, and ideas from the four services. We utilize a wealth of resources from Joint and Army Doctrine and Publications to academic research articles in order to tailor our classes and lesson plans to best meet a unit's needs. The instruction, itself, is a mixture of classroom presentations, videos, and practical exercises-to include low overhead driver-based simulations to prepare the commanders and staffs for the complex and adaptive operational environment of the future.
	Course Topics:
	Note: Not every topic (lesson) will be covered in each class. The Subject Matter Experts that present some lessons may not be available for a particular course. Additionally, not every topic will be covered in every seminar. The student make up of Seminars 1, 2, and 3 may be very different and the instruction will be tailored to best fit the types of command you will be assuming.
	Mission Command: This is a one and a half hour session preparatory to practical exercises intended to improve the unit's understanding of the "Understand", "Visualize," and "Describe" elements of the doctrinal command methodology of understand, visualize, describe, direct, lead, and assess (UVDDLA). This lesson and practical exercise application provides commanders and staffs with the opportunity to practice developing situational understanding, developing and describing visualization given practical exercises. Units will prepare effective and doctrinally-sound statements of commander's intent, planning guidance, and commander's critical information requirements (CCIR), and essential elements of friendly information (EEFI).

Communication Skills and Team Building: This is a one and a half hour session intended to improve the unit's understanding on how and why individuals communicate and the differences inherent in communication practices and skills. Units will be introduced to the basics of communication skills and techniques. Multiple practical exercises will be conducted to demonstrate the seminar material. Additionally, the unit will be provided an overview of the Myers-Briggs Personality Type Indicator and conduct a practical exercise based on their MBTI.

Critical Thinking: This three hour lesson on Critical Thinking / Critical Reasoning will give you the tools to improve the quality of the thinking of individuals within the organization by taking charge of the structures inherent in thinking and imposing (universal) intellectual standards upon them. Units will be introduced to the elements of thought, universal intellectual standards, fallacies, illogical arguments and bias. Using critical and creative thinking, students will be better able to discern "truth" and achieve "understanding" in their practice of Mission Command.

Operational Design: This one and a half hour session will introduce units to the concept of "Design". You will be presented the background of the development of "Design" and the concept of ill structured/wicked problems and the use of "Design" to find potential solutions to these problems. Design supports mission command, enabling commanders to develop a thorough understanding of the operational environment and formulate effective solutions to complex, ill-structured problems and achieve "understanding".

Decision Making: This 90 minute session is to allow you to discuss how leaders make decisions. The outcome of this class is to allow you the opportunity to discuss analytical and intuitive decision making and how that can affect the organization. You will discuss how to establish, maintain and improve the decision making in your unit.

Practical Exercise 3- (URBANSIM): The objective of this 3 hour practical exercise is to provide you the opportunity to exercise the role of the commander in Mission Command in a complex stability operation in a full insurgency operational environment. You will develop your commander's intent, CCIR and solutions (sub-objectives along the lines of effort) to problems in your AO and then in a simulation play turn will be able to observe second and third order effect of your decisions. You will play 15 game turns and see how your progress improves or does not improve over time. UrbanSim provides an opportunity for you to exercise the iterative nature of mission command by conducting the "assess" and "direct" functions of mission command.

Leadership Styles, Organizational Culture and Stress: This two hour lesson on leadership styles, organizational culture and mental/physical stressors on soldiers and units is intended to familiarize you with different leadership styles used in both the military and civilian environments. Additionally the lesson will provide you an understanding of how organizational leadership is different than direct level leadership. We will also discuss organizational leadership issues, command climate, organizational change and how PTSD or other stressors may impact organizational behavior. Importantly, examples of how recognize and deal with stress as an organizational level leader will be discussed.

Knowledge Management: This hour and a half block of instruction focuses on the cognitive hierarchy as introduced in FM 6.0, Mission Command. It orients the leader and unit to the Mission Command Systems and Networks, information flow within a command post, and how to create a shared vision within a command in order to conquer the ever-increasing mountain of information and sensory overload. You will discuss how to keep information from overwhelming commanders and staffs and how to process data and information into a shared common operating picture.

Course Description:

IFCEP is organized to provide updated material, instruction, and a means to dialog on contemporary issues including emerging leadership skills, changing national policies, updated military doctrine, and areas of regional concern. IFCEP focuses on the USAWC International Fellow Alumni network in order to strengthen established alumni bonds initially developed at Carlisle Barracks; launches new relationships using participation attendance at the US Army War College as a catalyst; and enhances stability by building relationships and promoting open dialog. The program introduces topics and issues for alumni to study from their home or workplace during an initial four-week phase. During this phase, participants develop a foundational background on select topics via online learning utilizing Blackboard as a learning management system. Along with readings, presentations and virtual meetings, alumni are expect to analyze and provide thoughts each week about the focus for the week. The course shares each participant's thoughts amongst the group and allows constructive dialog from differing perspectives on each week's topic. The group then travels to a regional location during the second phase to continue the discussion started previously. Seminars of 12 alumni expand on each of the four topics in weeklong symposium where each issue is the focus for a day of discussion and dialog. Participants depart with an understanding of the current environment, possible futures desired by regional players, and the tensions, challenges, and/or opportunities that may exist.

Purpose: To further develop military professionals adept at making repetitive discretionary judgments; skilled in problem analysis/solving under lethal, volatile, ambiguous, complicated, and uncertain circumstances within the full spectrum of conflict in Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental, and Multinational operations; prepare officers to serve on battle staffs of operational level headquarters; lead missions assigned to battalion and brigade sized units; and develop the professional skills and competencies required of senior field grade leaders.

Course Description: Instruction is designed to develop student critical reasoning/creative thinking and decision making ability, character, self-expression, and teamwork. The student must recognize a problem, determine the basic issues involved, obtain the necessary information for a solution, and understand and properly apply principles. The student must also analyze problems based on available information and arrive at logical solutions or decisions with reasonable speed. The student must communicate reasoning and decisions with faculty both orally (briefings, presentations, discussions) and in writing and know how to supervise and ensure proper execution. The student is educated in sound doctrine and doctrinal procedures. Instruction is oriented primarily on developing logical, practical, and original reasoning ability in military problem solving rather than on the merits of any single solution. Particular attention is given to the development of intellectual honesty, integrity, and professional values, and standards. Curriculum content includes strategic studies, operational studies, tactical studies, history, leadership, and force management.

This course is divided into three phases over the span of a year. Each phase must be completed in order, phase 1 then phase 2 then phase 3, in order to receive credit for the course. Large portions of this course are conducted via advanced distance learning (online) modules to be completed at your home via the Internet before and during phase 1. There are significant amounts of reading, briefings, and written papers that must be completed during and between phases. This course is taught at the equivalent of a U.S. postgraduate (masters-level) education class, and accredited as an extension of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Phase 1 consists of four blocks of instruction:

1. C100: Foundations: The C100 block establishes a foundational and conceptual baseline of instruction that sets the conditions for all subsequent learning within the Command and General Staff Officer Course (CGSOC) Common Core. The block covers a broad set of topics including individual awareness, communication, media awareness, leader development, critical thinking and problem solving, and the international security environment.
2. C200: Strategic Environment: The lessons in the C200 Theme focus on providing an appreciation of the strategic environment. They facilitate the student's comprehension of the U.S. government National Security and Department of Defense organizations, processes, strategies and policies that guide the use of the military element of national power within the overall context of national security. They also introduce theories, concepts and joint doctrine useful to understanding and analyzing strategic level military problems and challenges. In addition, this Theme also includes a historical case study and regional strategic estimate to help you understand how strategic guidance affects military operational level planning and operations.
3. P920 Preparation Course. This consists of approximately 60 hours of online, self-paced instruction to review military symbology, U.S doctrine, U.S. Army organizational structures, the Military Decision Making Process, and Army Logistics. P920 ADL modules are available via the BlackBoard course management program online after course registration is processed. P920 lessons must be completed prior to starting CGSOC-CC Phase 2.

Phase 1 includes approximately 67 hours of classroom instruction and 16 hours of online ADL modules.

This course is taught at the equivalent of a U.S. postgraduate (masters-level) education class, and accredited as an extension of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Phase 2 consists of five blocks of instruction:

"C300: JIIM Capabilities: The C300 JIIM Capabilities Theme builds on the study of the strategic level of war introduced in the Strategic Environment Theme (C200) during phase 1. This block helps the student comprehend the roles, functions, capabilities, and limitations of Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental and Multinational (JIIM) forces to better prepare to develop effective operational plans that successfully achieve strategic national and strategic theater objectives, and for the wide diversity of assignments an officer will face during their military career. JIIM Capabilities Theme lessons are relevant, pertinent, and practical to both U.S. and international officers from all Services.

C400: U.S Joint and Army Doctrine: The C400T theme examines the fundamentals of joint operations. In particular, it provides the doctrinal foundation that guides and directs the planning and execution of joint operations. The C400T lessons help students understand the doctrinal foundations underpinning both joint and Army operations. It puts emphasis on operational art, operational design, and the range and types of military operations possible to address strategic and operational challenges.

F100: Force Management: This block takes introduces students to topics related to managing change, manning, equipping, and sustaining the force, and developing capabilities. It familiarizes students with the higher-level (strategic) agencies and the complex/interdependent force management process used to change the Army to meet DOD transformation goals. Most of the Force Management lessons are a combination of Advanced Distributive Learning (ADL) lessons.

H100: Rise of the Western Way of War: This block examines the relationship between war and society from 1300-1918. H100 gives a broad perspective of the interplay between war and Western society, the nature of revolutionary military change and, through that perspective, some insights into the challenges and opportunities the militaries faces today. It also explores the evolution of the "Western Way of War" and the linked concepts that trace the course of revolutionary changes in warfare and the related linkage between war and society from the fourteenth century to today. The majority of this block is conducted via advanced distance learning modules.

L100: Leadership Development: L100 builds on foundational concepts developed in phase 1. It introduces students to the challenges of organizational leadership in a changing and uncertain environment. The L100 block focuses on the challenges of developing and improving organizations and leaders as a field grade officer, balancing day-to-day requirements to accomplish the mission while taking care of the organization and its people.

These five blocks of instruction constitute approximately 106 hours of classroom instruction and 60 hours of online ADL modules.

The student must recognize a problem, determine the basic issues involved, obtain the necessary information for a solution, and understand and properly apply principles. The student must also analyze problems based on available information and arrive at logical solutions or decisions with reasonable speed. The student must communicate reasoning and decisions with faculty both orally (briefings, presentations, discussions) and in writing and know how to supervise and ensure proper execution. The student is educated in sound doctrine and doctrinal procedures. Instruction is oriented primarily on developing logical, practical, and original reasoning ability in military problem solving rather than on the merits of any single solution. Particular attention is given to the development of intellectual honesty, integrity, and professional values, and standards. Curriculum content includes strategic studies, operational studies, tactical studies, history, leadership, and force management.

This course is divided into three phases over the span of a year. Each phase must be completed in order, phase 1 then phase 2 then phase 3, in order to receive credit for the course. Large portions of this course are conducted via advanced distance learning (online) modules to be completed at your home via the Internet. There are 60 hours of advanced distance learning modules that must be completed during phase 2. There are significant amounts of reading, briefings, and written papers that must be completed during and between phases. This course is taught at the equivalent of a U.S. postgraduate (masters-level) education class, and accredited as an extension of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Phase 2 consists of five blocks of instruction:

"C300: JIIM Capabilities: The C300 JIIM Capabilities Theme builds on the study of the strategic level of war introduced in the Strategic Environment Theme (C200) during phase 1. This block helps the student comprehend the roles, functions, capabilities, and limitations of Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental and Multinational (JIIM) forces to better prepare to develop effective operational plans that successfully achieve strategic national and strategic theater objectives, and for the wide diversity of assignments an officer will face during their military career. JIIM Capabilities Theme lessons are relevant, pertinent, and practical to both U.S. and international officers from all Services.

C400: U.S Joint and Army Doctrine: The C400T theme examines the fundamentals of joint operations. In particular, it provides the doctrinal foundation that guides and directs the planning and execution of joint operations. The C400T lessons help students understand the doctrinal foundations underpinning both joint and Army operations. It puts emphasis on operational art, operational design, and the range and types of military operations possible to address strategic and operational challenges.

F100: Force Management: This block takes introduces students to topics related to managing change, manning, equipping, and sustaining the force, and developing capabilities. It familiarizes students with the higher-level (strategic) agencies and the complex/interdependent force management process used to change the Army to meet DOD transformation goals. Most of the Force Management lessons are a combination of Advanced Distributive Learning (ADL) lessons.

H100: Rise of the Western Way of War: This block examines the relationship between war and society from 1300-1918. H100 gives a broad perspective of the interplay between war and Western society, the nature of revolutionary military change and, through that perspective, some insights into the challenges and opportunities the militaries faces today. It also explores the evolution of the "Western Way of War" and the linked concepts that trace the course of revolutionary changes in warfare and the related linkage between war and society from the fourteenth century to today. The majority of this block is conducted via advanced distance learning modules.

L100: Leadership Development: L100 builds on foundational concepts developed in phase 1. It introduces students to the challenges of organizational leadership in a changing and uncertain environment. The L100 block focuses on the challenges of developing and improving organizations and leaders as a field grade officer, balancing day-to-day requirements to accomplish the mission while taking care of the organization and its people.

These five blocks of instruction constitute approximately 106 hours of classroom instruction and 60 hours of online ADL modules.

INTERMEDIATE LEVEL EDUCATION COMMON CORE
Army

7th ILE Detachment

Course Description:

Purpose: To further develop military professionals adept at making repetitive discretionary judgments; skilled in problem analysis/solving under lethal, volatile, ambiguous, complicated, and uncertain circumstances within the full spectrum of conflict in Joint, Interagency, Intergovernmental, and Multinational operations; prepare officers to serve on battle staffs of operational level headquarters; lead missions assigned to battalion and brigade sized units; and develop the professional skills and competencies required of senior field grade leaders.

Course Description: Instruction is designed to develop student critical reasoning/creative thinking and decision making ability, character, self-expression, and teamwork. The student must recognize a problem, determine the basic issues involved, obtain the necessary information for a solution, and understand and properly apply principles. The student must also analyze problems based on available information and arrive at logical solutions or decisions with reasonable speed. This course is taught at the equivalent of a U.S. postgraduate (masters-level) education class, and accredited as an extension of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Phase 3 consists of two blocks of instruction:

C500: Joint Functions: This block helps students to understand and apply the joint functions of command and control, intelligence, fires, movement and maneuver, protection, and sustainment at the operational level of war, and how they are used in planning and operations. C500 provides a basic understanding of the functions to enable students to determine operational level tasks and translate those tasks into actionable duties and responsibilities that are built into a joint plan.

C600: Planning: This addresses the practical application of military decision making using the tools of the Joint Operation Planning Process (JOPP) and the Army's Military Decision Making Process (MDMP). Students apply understanding of U.S. Army and Joint doctrine, capabilities, and operational processes developed during all phases of the course. C600 focuses on Unified Land Operations and Mission Command.

Phase three instruction includes approximately 81 hours of classroom time.

All arrivals should enter thru GTA/Es Gate 6

Direction to Bldg 1142 thru Gate 6:

Driving towards GTA on B299. Turn onto Am Gruderzentrum. Proceed toward Gate and continue the process to get thru gate six (6). Once passed the gate, stay to the left and make left turn toward Camp Aachen (you should see a sign that says Camp Aachen). Proceed to first intersection and turn right. After turning right, continue until first intersection and turn right. Proceed approximately 500 meters. The CATC Student Detachment Bldg (1164) is on the left side of the road.

If flying, Nuremberg (Nnrnberg) is much closer to Vilseck than Munich (Mnnchen), so Nuremberg is the preferred destination for flying to Germany (airport code: NUE). COMBAT LIFESAVER COURSE
Army

7th ATC-CATC Vilseck GE
Vilseck, GY

Course Description:

The CLS course is established by AR 350-1 to provide for immediate, far-forward medical care on a widely dispersed battlefield while awaiting further medical treatment and evacuation. The presence of CLS-certified personnel and aid bags is required by TRADOC Reg 350-6, paras 3-47 and M-2, for most IET training events. The foundation of CMAST is the concept and principles of Tactical Combat Casualty Care (TC3). CLS takes the basic knowledge and skills the soldier attained from Common Task Training and addresses the unique aspects of applying emergency medical care to casualties on the battlefield. The advanced management of airway, chest trauma, hemorrhage, and hypovolemic shock of the battlefield casualty are all addressed. Triage and evacuation are also addressed. This course contains written examinations and culminates in several practical examinations a one day FTX and a final written examination. This course is 40 hours in length.

Course Prerequisite Text:

Soldiers attending this course at the Combined Arms Training Center (CATC) should bring the following items at a minimum:
 Uniform, duty
 Undergarments
 Headgear (as prescribed by their respective country)
 Inclement weather clothing (i.e. wet weather, cold weather, etc.)
 Personal hygiene items
 Writing instruments/paper for note taking
 Other items they deem they need to bring.
 Students must arrange transportation to and from home station ù they will not be picked up at an airport or from any other location. Students will report to Building 336, Student Detachment, Rose Barracks Vilseck between 12:00 and 16:00 the day before the course Start Date. The village of Sorghof, Germany, can be used as a reference point to "Google" direction to Rose Barracks. Sorghof is right outside the main gate. Students receiving the in-processing briefing should arrive at least 10 minutes before the hour to find seating. Students who cannot report before 16:00 for a valid reason must call Student Detachment at +49 (0)9662-83-2755 to coordinate lodging.
 If flying, Nuremberg (Nnrnberg) is much closer to Vilseck than Munich (Mnchen), so Nuremberg is the preferred destination for flying to Germany (airport code: NUE). Nnrnberg is also preferable as it is a small, uncomplicated airport.
 Taking a train from the Nnrnberg airport is the easiest option. Ticket machines are located directly outside the arrival area with an escalator left of the machines (as you exit the airport) to the trains. Purchase a "Bayernpass" (Bavaria Pass) for each group of five travelers. The Pass is valid for German trains (except very high speed ù ICE or Railjet trains) plus subways throughout Bavaria. A ticket for up to 5 passengers to travel together is 29 Euros. One of the travelers must print (his/her) name on the back of the ticket to validate it for travel. On weekdays, the pass is valid from 0900 in the morning until 0300 on the following morning and from 0700 to 0300 on Saturdays and Sundays.
 Nnrnberg subway (S-Bahn) has a station directly at the airport. Take the S-Bahn to Nnrnberg main station (Nnrnberg Hauptbahnhof abbreviated Hbf). The airport is the end of the line you so cannot get on a train going in the wrong direction ù only option is toward the city center.
 Upon arrival at Nnrnberg Hbf, take the train to Vilseck ù it is on the train line to Weiden but ensure the train is scheduled to stop at Vilseck as some do not. Take a Regional Express (RE) train as ICE trains may not stop there plus the Bayernpass is not valid on the ICE!
 No transport will be arranged by JMTC/CATC from the from train station; Students must hire a taxi to travel to Rose Barracks. If the required information to arrange post access was returned as requested, the taxi will be able to access the installation and take personnel directly to the Student Detachment . If access information was not returned, the taxi will have to leave Soldiers at the Gate and they will have to walk (approximately 2 Kms).
 Additional items for Combat Lifesaver (MED-106) course are as follows:
 Helmet (for movement to MSTC and simulation training)
 Combat vest or body armor (for simulation training)
 Appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) directed by their respective country

Course International Notes:

Self aid and Buddy aid tasks in the Soldiers Manual of Common Tasks skill level 1 ù Applicants must have all Individual Body Armor with Kevlar ù Individuals not having all prerequisites in their possession at the start of class will be sent back to their home unit no exceptions

COMMON FACULTY DEVELOPMENT-INSTRUCTOR COURSE
Army

8th Army NCO Academy
Camp Jackson, AP 96258

Course Description:

Effective 2017-12-19

Course Scope:

The Instructor Course, one of two courses that comprise the Common Faculty Development Program, is a ten-day/80 hour course designed for new faculty (e.g. instructors, trainers, and facilitators). It is a competency-based course: the learning objectives are based on internationally recognized instructor competencies published by the International Board of Standards for Training, Performance, and Instruction (ibstpi). The course prepares new faculty to teach, train, and facilitate learning in an adult learning environment. It introduces new faculty to Army instructor roles and responsibilities, teaching and learning models, and professional and ethical requirements. The course also introduces classroom management techniques, the process for building learning objectives and lesson plans, and characteristics of effective communication. Throughout the course, new faculty will have an opportunity to practice teaching, working from short, simple practicum exercises to increasingly longer and more complex ones, culminating in an end of course lesson presentation. The first half of the course focuses on characteristics of effective instructors, self-awareness-of differences in teaching and learning style preferences-and fundamentals of teaching and learning as they apply to adults. The second week focuses more on application of those fundamentals in various teaching and learning practicums, with both instructor, peer, and self-assessment in a collaborative learning environment. The summative assessment will occur at the end of the course and consist of an individual 30- to 50-minute practicum.

Special Information:

This course is included in the CP-32 Certificate Training Program that is accredited by the American National Standard Institute (ANSI).

Effective 2017-12-19

Course Scope:

The Instructor Course, one of two courses that comprise the Common Faculty Development Program, is a ten-day/80 hour course designed for new faculty (e.g. instructors, trainers, and facilitators). It is a competency-based course: the learning objectives are based on internationally recognized instructor competencies published by the International Board of Standards for Training, Performance, and Instruction (ibstpi). The course prepares new faculty to teach, train, and facilitate learning in an adult learning environment. It introduces new faculty to Army instructor roles and responsibilities, teaching and learning models, and professional and ethical requirements. The course also introduces classroom management techniques, the process for building learning objectives and lesson plans, and characteristics of effective communication. Throughout the course, new faculty will have an opportunity to practice teaching, working from short, simple practicum exercises to increasingly longer and more complex ones, culminating in an end of course lesson presentation. The first half of the course focuses on characteristics of effective instructors, self-awareness-of differences in teaching and learning style preferences-and fundamentals of teaching and learning as they apply to adults. The second week focuses more on application of those fundamentals in various teaching and learning practicums, with both instructor, peer, and self-assessment in a collaborative learning environment. The summative assessment will occur at the end of the course and consist of an individual 30- to 50-minute practicum.
