Information (continued)

- Drink fluids every day. Good choices are water, sport drinks, soft drinks without caffeine, juices, tea, and soup. Extra fluids will also help loosen secretions in your nose and lungs.
- Over-the-counter cold medicines will not make the flu go away faster. But the medicines may help with coughing, sore throat, and congestion in your nose and sinuses. Don't use a decongestant if you have high blood pressure.
- Stay home until your fever has been gone for at least 24 hours without using medicine to reduce fever.

Follow-up care

Follow up with your health care provider, or as advised, if you are not getting better over the next week. If you are 65 or older, talk with your provider about getting a pneumococcal vaccine every 5 years. You should also get this vaccine if you have chronic asthma or COPD. All adults should get a flu vaccine every fall. Ask your provider about this.

When to seek medical advice

Call your health care provider right away if any of these occur:

- Cough with lots of colored sputum (mucus) or blood in your sputum
- Chest pain, shortness of breath, wheezing, or difficulty breathing
- Severe headache, or face, neck, or ear pain
- New rash with fever
- Fever of 101°F (38°C) oral or higher that doesn't get better with fever medicine
- Confusion, behavior change, or seizure
- Severe weakness or dizziness
- You get a fever or cough after getting better for a few days
